

RUDOLPH VALENTINO DIES MONDAY

CANTON GRAND JURY TO HEAR FORTY WITNESSES

PLAN TO IMPLICATE FIVE FOR MURDER OF PUBLISHER IN JULY

Special Counsel Says
Prosecutor Fears
Consequences

CANTON, O., Aug. 23.—(UP)—More than forty witnesses will appear before the grand jury convening here Wednesday to consider evidence gathered by investigators, seeking to fix blame for the murder of Don R. Mellett, it was learned today.

About half the witnesses will be provided by Ora Slater, Stark County investigator and half by Joseph Roach, special police counsel. These witnesses will implicate at least five persons in the murder, according to their sponsors.

Roach openly criticized Prosecutor C. B. McClinton as preparations were made for the grand jury session. He charged McClinton, Republican candidate for congress, fears political consequences of the probe. An assistant prosecutor is expected to be named today.

Federal authorities conducting an inquiry into liquor aspects of the case promised further arrests today. Three already have been charged with conspiracy, one a former police prosecutor.

The murder of Mellett, more than a month ago, precipitated an investigation of vice and crime conditions in Canton. He was killed while conducting a reform campaign in the Canton Daily News, of which he was publisher. The political fight will be resumed today with Mayor S. A. Sworts, hearing charges of neglect of duty against two civil service commissioners. The two commissioners have said they will not appear. If they are dismissed the way will be opened for a police department shake-up.

CHEESE BREATH OF CAT LURES MICE

MANCHESTER, Eng., Aug. 23.—(UP)—A cat story which rivals the best fish stories was recently communicated to a local paper here in a reader's letter to the editor. "I have a house-cat," the reader wrote, "which I found possessed an extraordinary appetite for cheese, and every time cheese was placed on the table, the cat would sit beside me and beg for this very ordinary food.

"It will, no doubt interest your readers to know that upon investigation I found that the cat ate the cheese and then went to a mousehole in the woodwork and breathed heavily into it until the mice were enticed to come out."

SHAMBATTLES HELD BY NATIONAL GUARD

CAMP PERRY, O., Aug. 23.—Shambattles over a two day period were inaugurated by troops of the 74th brigade, Ohio National Guard here Monday, preceding the final review of the period to be made by Major General Robert Howze, commanding the Fifth corps area, later in the day.

PROBE MYSTERY DEATH

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 23.—Authorities today were attempting to determine the cause of the death of Miss Dorothy Kirk, formerly of Lorain. After being missed since Friday evening she was taken to a hospital Sunday morning by a man and died a few hours later.

MODERN GRANDMOTHER

LONDON, Aug. 23.—(UP)—A one-day search by a London newspaper for the old-fashioned grandmother who is usually pictured as sitting quietly darning socks by the fireside, has failed completely. The inquirer compiled a list of seven grandmothers, and then set out to find out what they were doing.

No. 1 was in Paris buying frocks.

No. 2 had recently acquired a two-seater sports automobile and had driven into the Midlands to see her son's sons.

No. 3 had gone into the country to make a political speech in her son's constituency.

No. 4 had gone to a matinee.

No. 5 was out buying some new valves for the radio set.

No. 6 was out getting her hair shingled.

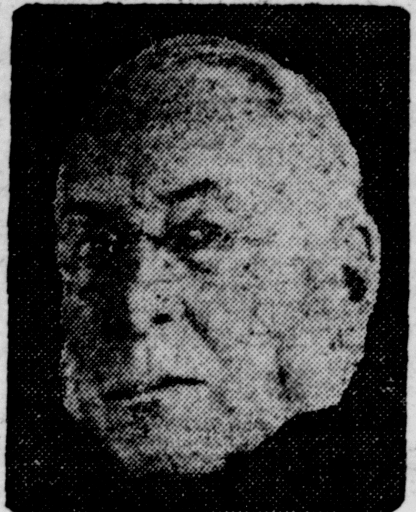

No. 7 had gone to a tea dance at a big hotel.

Death Claims Dr. Charles W. Eliot, Noted Educator

Former Harvard President Succumbs at Summer
Home—Was Advocate Of League of Nations—Burial Wednesday

NORTHEAST HARBOR, Me., Aug. 23.—Charles W. Eliot, 92, for fifty years a leader in American educational affairs, is dead.

For forty years he was president of Harvard University and during that time exercised world-wide influence as an educator; saw the growth of Harvard to the greatest position in education in which it ever attained; and through his writings, his lectures and his part in public affairs became one of the leading men of the day. Dr. Eliot became a staunch supporter of the League of Nations and started Massachusetts in 1922 when he opposed the re-election of Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge because of his attacks upon the league.

He was a follower of Woodrow Wilson. "I have a house-cat," the reader wrote, "which I found possessed an extraordinary appetite for cheese, and every time cheese was placed on the table, the cat would sit beside me and beg for this very ordinary food.

He worked every day at his desk. Death came to him late yesterday at the home he had occupied here each summer for more than forty years. Since early summer his health had been such as to cause anxiety and of recent weeks he had been forced to remain almost continuously indoors.

At the time of assuming the presidency of Harvard in his 35th year Dr. Eliot was the youngest president Harvard had ever had. When he relinquished the office to A. Lawrence Lowell in 1909, he had been president for a longer time.

ADMIRAL SUCCEEDS TO PRESIDENCY OF GREECE IN REVOLT

Pangalos Is Captive As Government Is Over-
thrown

ATHENS, Aug. 23.—Admiral Paul Coudouritis has accepted the presidency of Greece after a successful revolution in which the army and navy under the leadership of General Georges Condylis overthrew the Pangalos government.

Coudouritis had been ousted from the presidency in the revolt which raised Pangalos to power. Condylis announced that Salonika had recognized the new government.

Pangalos, who had controlled Greece, fifteen months, was taken prisoner and isolated in the military hospital at Athens. He had been spending a vacation at the Island of Spataise when Condylis, former minister of the interior, flew to the island to place him under arrest. Pangalos escaped however, fleeing on a destroyer on which he had come to the island. He was pursued by another vessel, manned by revolutionary forces, and his ship surrendered rather than face a battle.

LODGE IS ROBBED

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 23.—Burglars broke open the safe of the Fraternal Order of the Moose Lodge rooms within one block of police station here and escaped with $1,296 in cash and two checks for $100 each, it was discovered today.

than his five immediate predecessors combined. Charles William Eliot was born in Boston, March 20, 1834, the son of Samuel Atkins and Mary Lyman Eliot. He was graduated from Harvard in 1853, ranking among the first in his class. During his undergraduate days he was prominent on the rowing teams and attained a place on the varsity crew.

PARTISAN LEADERS HOLD CONVENTION TO PLAN CAMPAIGNS

Republicans And Democrats Gather For
Columbus Meets

COLUMBUS, Aug. 23.—More than one thousand representatives of the Republican and Democratic parties were arriving here today, for their respective state conventions which open tomorrow. The visitors include nominees for state offices, county committee chairmen and party leaders.

The Democrats will convene at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow, expecting to conclude their business late that afternoon while the Republican convention will not get underway until 4 p. m. to be concluded probably by noon Wednesday. The newly elected Democratic state central committee will meet this afternoon in advance of the convention to organize and select the new state executive committee.

T. E. Dye, Urbana, will probably be re-elected state executive chairman and Robert T. Scott, Cambridge is slated to be retained as central committee chairman. Although both conventions will officially launch the respective party campaigns, drafting of state party platforms practically will be the only real business before the conventions.

Thomas J. Duffy, former chairman of the state industrial commission will be the Democrats temporary chairman and will deliver the "keynote" address and Senator Simeon D. Fess is expected to perform the same duties for the Republicans.

CHICAGO BEER KING CAUGHT FOR MURDER

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—(UP)—Chicago's chief beer baron, "Polack Joe" Salsis, indicted as a gang killer, was to be brought here today from the Northern Wisconsin woods, where he was arrested yesterday by Chicago's chief of detectives, William Shoemaker and a picked squad. Salsis is wanted for the alleged shooting of "Millers" oley, a rival beer trafficker, a fortnight ago.

With Salsis were three lieutenants, "Lefty" Konell, machine gunner of the gang who faces trial with Salsis for the Foley murder. "Three Fingers" Pete Kazinski and Nick Kramer, an under-cover man and bodyguard for Salsis.

Although the raiding squad in the Northern Woods was supplied with machine guns, shotguns and tear bombs, none of the artillery was used in making the arrests.

BURNS CLAIM THIRD MEMBER OF FAMILY

CINCINNATI, Aug. 23.—(UP)—With the death here yesterday of Mrs. Oda Miller, Alfred D. Miller, lumber dealer is the only surviving member of his family.

On August 2, Mrs. Miller and her two children, David, 5, and Douglas 3, were burned when escaping gas was accidentally ignited by a match. The two children died a week after the accident. Mrs. Miller had been in a hospital since.

AMERICAN GIRL IS ATTEMPTING SWIM

DOVER, Eng., Aug. 23.—Miss Clara Belle Barrett, American swimming teacher of New Rochelle, N. Y., was estimated to be eight miles off Dover, at 4 p. m. today, after two hours and thirty minutes in the water in an attempt to swim the English channel. The report came from an observer at the Dover coast guard station.

SEVEN KILLED WHEN ILLINOIS FREIGHT TRAIN IS WRECKED

Laborers Crushed To
Death When Cars
Leave Tracks

PRINCETON, Ill., Aug. 23.—(UP)—Seven men, all laborers, en route to a work camp, were killed and three more were injured, when the freight train on which they were riding jumped the track at Wyandett near here late yesterday. All had been members of an extra gang working near Galesburg, and were riding on top of an oil tank car when a brake rod broke and ten cars toppled over an embankment. The men killed and injured were huddled in one car. The three taken to a hospital were said to be near death.

More than 1,200 feet of double track was disrupted. Hundreds of laborers were rushed to the scene from division points at Galesburg and Aurora to repair the tracks. One tank car of molasses burst, flooding the tracks with the sticky fluid. The station agent at Wyandett narrowly escaped being struck. The injured were hurried to the hospital at Princeton.

BANDITS ROB SAFE BUT MISS GOLD LEAF

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Eight masked bandits, blinding and gagging six night watchmen and then performing the duties they were supposed to do, early today ransacked the safes of the Wahl Pen Company and escaped with $20,000 in gold leaf and currency. The bandits crept up to the watchmen one after another, bound them together and placed them under guard. One robber went from station to station and made the watchmen's usual reports, while his comrades worked leisurely at opening the safes. The robbers overlooked $50,000 worth of gold, discarded $5,000 of the watchmen, said the robbers thought was brass, and tossed aside tridium valued at $2,000. The watchmen told the police the robbers worked with an apparently intimate knowledge of the plant.

OCTOGENARIANS IN DIVORCE DISPUTE

SENATOBIA, Miss., Aug. 23.—Denial of charges of desertion, alleged in her husband's suit for divorce on that ground, was contained today in an answer to the suit filed yesterday by attorneys for Mrs. Elmore J. Wolf, 80.

Wolf, also an octogenarian, filed suit several weeks ago, alleging that Mrs. Wolf had deserted him in Kentucky, where he took his wife as a bride shortly after the war between the states. Wolf's position stated they have not lived together in more than fifty years, and that he is the father of two sons whom he has not seen in that time.

FIVE RACERS HURT

AKRON, O., Aug. 23.—Five automobile race drivers were injured, two probably fatally, in a series of accidents during a one hundred mile negro drivers race at Northampton Motordrome. The automobile crashed through the fence.

VICTIM DIES

MARTINS FERRY, Aug. 23.—Frank Davidson died last night of a bullet wound inflicted a week ago, when his stepfather, Eli Escott, ran amuck with a revolver. Escott killed his wife and later he died of a self-inflicted wound.

FUGITIVE ATTORNEY FEARS FOR LIFE SHOULD HE FACE CHARGES

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 23.—Harry W. Sheets, prominent attorney, whose disappearance August 9 was followed by allegations of large shortages in accounts handled by him as attorney, fiscal agent, Court trustee and special Commissioner of Courts, appears to fear for his life as well as arrest, according to an assertion made by Dr. A. C. Beetham, of Bellaire, O., president of the Buckeye Building and Loan Association of that city. Dr. Beetham, who is here investigating Sheet's accounts with the company, is credited with having said that Sheets, on a visit to him at Bellaire, told him he was afraid to return to Clarksburg for fear certain of his alleged victims would do harm to him, and may take his life. The attorney did return to Clarksburg, but is supposed to have left the city early in the morning after being in his offices in the Goff Building, George P. Ainslee, Jr., of Columbus, Ohio, representing the National Securities Association, which had bonded Sheets for $25,000, says he ascertained that the young attorney mailed a letter at the Clarksburg postoffice the afternoon of Tuesday, August 10. The condition of Sheets's desk indicated that he deliberately had prepared to leave, as it was found to be neatly arranged and not in the littered and disorderly condition he is said to have kept it.

COURT REFUSES ACTION ON BAIL FOR HALL - MILLS PRINCIPALS

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 23.—Chief Justice William Howard Gummere today declined to take any action on an application for the release on bail of Henry De La Bruyer Carpenter and Willie Stevens, held in Somerset County jail on charges of murder in connection with the deaths four years ago of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills. The Chief Justice explained that he had received a letter from Justices Charles W. Parker, now on vacation in Maine, saying he was prepared to return and hear arguments on the bail application. Justice Parker has jurisdiction embracing Somerset County.

Carpenter and Stevens were ordered held without bail for the action of the grand jury by County Judge Frank Cleary who presided at their preliminary examination in which special prosecutor Alexander Simpson outlined the case he has built up in solution of the four years old crime.

RUDOLPH VALENTINO SUCCEUMBS

Rudolph Valentino, American film star, known as the "movie sheik" because of the type of pictures in which he gained popularity, died Monday in a New York hospital where he underwent an operation last week. Death followed a relapse in which pleurisy set in.

TWO KILLED WHEN AUTO SKIDS ON DAYTON-GERMANTOWN PIKE

Four Other Occupants Injured When Machine
Leaves Road and Hits Pole After
Striking Auto

DAYTON, O., Aug. 23.—Clifton Hunnicut, 21 years old, Union City, Ind., and Irving Bailey, 35, taxi driver, Germantown, Ohio, were killed yesterday when the automobile in which they were occupants with four other men skidded from the roadway on the Dayton and Germantown pike, one mile east of Germantown, and turned over in a ditch after striking a telephone pole.

Both men suffered broken necks and were dead when their companions removed their bodies from the wreckage. Their machine had struck an automobile driven by Harry Frederick, of Sunbury, Ohio, and as a result a tire was blown out. Frederick was injured. The driver of the other car, George Taylor, of Greenville, O., was injured seriously.

TO ERECT BUSINESS BUILDING IN XENIA

Work will start in a week or ten days on a two-story building, on a lot on E. Main St., recently purchased by H. L. Binder, of the Carroll-Binder Co., it was announced Monday. The lot, located opposite the Carroll-Binder Co. has been vacant some time and was purchased two weeks ago from George Grottenkirk. A two-story building with stucco finish will be erected, according to present plans of Mr. Binder. He has had several offers for occupation of the building, and his decision on the propositions will be made within a week.

MANUFACTURER DIES CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 23.—F. S. Kretzniger, 28, chairman of the board of directors of the American Fork and Hoe Co., died from heart attack.

LIFE SENTENCE IS GIVEN MURDERER OF KENTUCKY COUPLE

Convict "Tiger Man" Of
Double Killing At
Morgantown

MORGANTOWN, Ky., August 23.—Delbert Gary was sentenced to life imprisonment here today after being convicted of the murder of Rev. A. W. Moss, evangelist, and Mrs. Nora Johnson, choir singer at a revival meeting in Gary School house, Butler County, three weeks ago.

Gary, whom State Attorneys called the "Tiger Man" was the leader of a band that plotted to take the evangelist's life for his activities against moonshiners.

The verdict was received here with surprise. Eight of the jurors were for the death penalty last night when the first trial was taken. When balloting was renewed this morning, four were for a life term and they won over the majority within two hours.

Gary's attorneys and newspaper men were the only ones permitted in the courtroom when the jury reported. Gary showed no change in expression when the verdict was read. It is not believed his attorneys will appeal.

Cases of the men accused with Gary have been postponed until December.

The shooting took place during a downpour of rain as the Rev. Moss and Mrs. Johnson were standing on the rostrum of the school house singing the last stanza of "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder." There was a fusillade of shots and the preacher and Mrs. Johnson both fell to the floor.

Delbert Gary, his brother, Strudley Gary, and Clifton Wilson were arrested the next day and were indicted. Delbert Gary went on trial Friday morning. Night sessions were conducted and the case was given to the jury at 10 o'clock Saturday night. The verdict was read at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, twenty days after the murders were committed.

YOUTHS ARRESTED FOR DEPREDAATIONS

Eleven youths, ranging from ten to fifteen years in age, were charged by police with breaking into and abandoning lots of the DeWine Milling Co., Bollbrook Ave., over the week end and causing property damage of $100.

Eight boys were caught in the midst of destroying property, mixing grain and feed and committing other depredations Sunday by Patrolman Fred Jones and Motorcycle Policeman Peter Shagin.

Names of three other companions of the eight involved in the act were learned upon questioning. The eleven boys are scheduled to appear before Mayor John W. Prugh Monday afternoon and their cases will probably be transferred over to Juvenile Court.

Entrance to the mill had been effected by breaking a door.

CONDOR CARRIES OFF SMALL CHILD

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 23.—(UP)—According to advice from Mendoza, the body of a two-year-old child was found in the foothills of the Andes, where it is believed to have been carried by a condor. The child disappeared from its home about two months ago.

POMONA GRANGE TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Pomona Grange will meet at Spring Valley High School, Wednesday, August 25. No outside speakers have been engaged. Degree work will be staged in the morning, with an interesting program for the afternoon.

MOVIE STAR UNABLE TO RESIST RELAPSE AFTER OPERATION

Blood Transfusion At Last Minute Fails
To Save Actor

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(UP)—Rudolph Valentino, who came to this country as an emigrant gardener and rose to the heights of fame as an actor, died at the Poly-clinic Hospital here today.

Humbly born, the son of a farmer in Italy, he died with four skilled physicians at his bedside and with the country waiting each word from his sick room almost as it waits for word from the sick chamber of a president.

Death came at 12:10 p. m. The specialists matching in vain their scientific knowledge against the inroads of infection which followed an operation for appendicitis and gastric ulcers, eight days ago, resorted to a blood transfusion at the end, but it was unsuccessful.

Edward Day, engineer at Poly-clinic Hospital gave of his blood, to no avail.

The corps of physicians then ordered an x-ray. It was found that the pleurisy which brought about a relapse Saturday when Valentino seemed on the road to recovery had been followed by septo-endocarditis (poisoning of the wall of the heart).

The last official bulletin was issued shortly before noon when it was admitted that the actor was "rapidly failing." His temperature had mounted to 105. His pulse was hammering at the rate of 140 strokes to the minute. His respiration was thirty to the minute.

In a few minutes, the actor was dead.

Valentino had lost consciousness shortly before the end. The hospital meanwhile was besieged by visitors and telephone calls from thousands of those whose hours had been made happier by Valentino's screen appearances.

Once there was a premature report of his death and extra girls were assigned to telephone duty at the Polyclinic.

Father Congodo administered the last rites of the Catholic Church to the dying man shortly after 10 a. m. today. Just before Valentino died Father Bennon of the Church of St. Malachi, known as the actor's church in Forty-ninth St., arrived in the sickroom.

Joseph M. Schenck announced Valentino's death. He came down stairs at 12:15 and read the brief bulletin signed by Doctors Paul E. Durham, G. Randolph Manning and Howard D. Meeker.

The relapse came Saturday. Valentino still showed a remarkable constitution and physicians took hope from his courage. However, the disease traveled slowly but certainly toward the heart and death could not be denied.

After news of his death came today, the telephone girls were immediately besieged once more.

One of the operators, Lucille Vandenberg, was in tears. She sobbed the news to her callers.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 23.—Hollywood was plunged into deep mourning today when word was flashed from New York that Rudolph Valentino, one of her favorites was dead.

Flags on all studios were lowered to half mast and a sombre hush pervaded the film colony. Production was suspended at the United Artists Studio, under whose banner the Valentino pictures were produced.

Production was stopped at the Famous Players-Lasky Studio, also where Pola Negri, Valentino's reported fiancée has been working double time the past week in her latest photoplay in an effort to complete the role and hasten to the actor's bedside.

Picturesque columns of stars and extras in costume and make up, were seen filing out of the studio gates. Released for the day they went to their homes to mourn the passing of "Rudy" the most famous of the screen lovers.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 23.—Pola Negri collapsed in her apartment at the Ambassador Hotel today when informed of the death of Rudolph Valentino.

Prostrated with grief the Polish star swooned without a word of comment, when informed by her personal maid that the great screen lover, her reported fiancée, had succumbed.

The house physician at the Ambassador rushed to Miss Negri's apartment and the star's personal doctor's were summoned also.

JEALOUSY BLAMED

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 23.—Harvey Elam, 30, was accused by jealousy according to police, when he shot and killed Mrs. Helea Nickels and then attempted to commit suicide here. His condition is serious.

CONQUERING FAITH CURES ALL ILLS SAYS DR. W. O. THOMPSON

"Conquering faith is the cure for all ills of today," Dr. W. O. Thompson, Columbus, moderator of the General Assembly, of the Presbyterian Church, and former president of the Ohio State University, told an audience that filled Clifton Presbyterian Church, Sunday morning, to celebrate the 115th anniversary of the founding of the church.

Dr. Thompson spoke on "The Significance of Memorials," taking the text, "Hitherto that the Lord helped us." He opened with a tribute to the memorials built by man down through the ages. "Memorials have the authority of God from the time of Abraham down to the present," the speaker said.

"For 115 years this church has been a preaching place—a memorial to the loving kindness of God in the needs of his people." He spoke of Westminster Abbey, London, as a memorial place to those who had only achieved greatness and renown in the English minds, as compared with the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington Cemetery "whose memorial is a tribute to the common man who does what has to be done."

"Memorials are a testimony to our faith in the future," Dr. Thompson declared. "They are born out of our experiences in life and are all expressions of our soul. They also express our 'staying power' and our self-respect. Memorials of Christian faith are the greatest in the world today. Such memorials have taught us to think largely and to know the permanence of God."

Dr. Thompson presided at the communion table, assisted by the Rev. William Wilson, pastor of the church, and a former pastor, the Rev. William T. McKinney, near Cincinnati. Dr. Thompson spoke of the communion service as the greatest memorial handed down from Christ.

Nine elders served at the communion and nine ministers were in the audience. The church was filled to capacity for the service. It was estimated 500 heard the address of Dr. Thompson which featured the second day's meeting, in celebration of the church's anniversary.

words are distinct and I like him because he is small.—Dorothy. I like it because the animals are talking and also because Billy is clever.—George Geis.

I like it because the animals are acting like people.—Howard Wilson.

I like a book about animals because they always get into mischief.—Rosemarie Bittner.

The Birds' Christmas Carol: There's so much to like about this book; it is interesting, though sad; and it is amusing, all about Carol Bird having such a happy Christmas day with the Ruggleses.—Eleanor White.

The Four Rabbits: This is a funny story about Floppy, Mopsy, Cottontail, and Peter.—Kingsley Fogg.

The North Woods of Maine: This book tells all about animals and the adventures of Frank and Harry.—Nina Stephens.

This book tells all about two boys going on a trapping trip to Maine; it is interesting because all boys like hunting and trapping.—Edward Pfeifer.

The Fairyland of Opera: I like this because I enjoy music and love to learn about the grand operas. Besides, the stories are sweet but sad. There are: "The Barber of Seville," "Romeo and Juliet," "Faust" and others. The story I especially like is "Madame Butterfly." I will tell you about it.—Marion Cox.

The Curlytops and Their Playmates: This book is very interesting and exciting because it contains many exclamations and conversations and a story that ends with a big dinner and all happy.—Virginia Brown.

The Adventures of a Brownie: The brownie stayed in a dark corner of the cellar; and one night when the cook left the food on the supper table, and everybody was asleep, the brownie ate everything up and left black footprints on the table cloth.—Virginia Kinsey.

The Life of Booker T. Washington: No book has appealed to me as much as this; from it I learn: That those are happiest who do the most for others;

That there is as much honor in tilling a farm as in writing a book; That we should stand up for right even if alone;

That we should respect our race; That we should keep hopeful and cheerful about the future, even if disadvantages and hardships do come;

That no one can be successful unless he is willing to work hard and do his level best each day of his life.

I am sure since the reading of this book I shall be a better girl in behavior and work harder in school.—Gertrude Hall.

The Gold Bug: The book I like best is "The Gold Bug," by Edgar Allan Poe. This is the story:—Martha Baughn.

Black Beauty: The reason I like this book is because it is about a horse and I like horses. I like all stories about animals.—Lucille. This is a good book because the people in the story are kind and some of them bad. The horse is a good one, he saved a lady's life. He never kicked anybody or any one who wanted to ride.—Ray Baker.

Tom Sawyer: I like this book because there is forward movement all the time. From the beginning to the end it keeps getting interesting; it has the right print for me to read. Sometimes I wish I was at the place where the story is and I wish I was the person that the story is talking about. I would be fortunate if I had the nerve of Tom Sawyer.—Donald Dallas.

Alice in Wonderland: is the book I like best. One day Alice was

Forced to Give Up Air Mail Line

Charles Dickinson, 76-year-old pioneer of commercial aviation, is forced, largely through lack of patronage, to abandon the Chicago-St. Paul air mail line for which he contracted with the government several months ago.

asleep on her sister's lap and had such a wonderful dream.—Cora Palmer.

Understood Betsy is my favorite book; it is by the well known author, Dorothy Canfield Fisher. Read the book yourself, since you are sure to enjoy it. To me a good book is about as good as a moving picture or a play. And books are just what libraries are for. If you are thinking of money, let that slip your mind, for the libraries are free and public buildings.—Harriet Cannon.

The Bobsey Twins and Baby May: Laura Lee Hope tells about the many exciting adventures of the twins Flossie and Freddie and the twins Bert and Nan and a baby left on the doorstep the first of May that was stolen from them and stolen back again by a woman crazed by a lot of dishes falling on her head.—Betty Bryant.

The Bobsey Twins on the House-Boat is exciting and in some places it is funny. The little girl fell off the ship and was nearly drowned.—Vinia McLean.

Boy Scouts on the Range: I like this because the author, Lieutenant Howard E. Payson explains everything thoroughly. The characters were not cowards but true, kind, and faithful. I like Rob. He got to going with Frank and Tubby and Merritt and the four went to a ranch in Arizona. There was a man who didn't like Rob and once this man's foot got stuck in a hole. A steer started to horn him when Rob shot him in the head and killed him.—Albert Carver.

Captives Three: I like this book best because it tells of the pioneers and also of an Indian uprising and of how Clay Castle made a canoe out of a poplar he felled and saved his sister Nell.—David Hamlin.

Golden Deeds: This book is made up of stories of kind and noble deeds boys and girls have done for thousands of people. If more children would read this book they would be anxious to help others.—Gladys Graves.

The White Indian Boy: One day when a boy was out in the field watching the sheep he ran away with an Indian who promised him a pony and did not leave his mother and father any note.—Mabel Harness.

I like the White Indian Boy best because he was kind to his mother. One day when an Indian was going to kill his mother, the boy took a rock and hit him on the head and killed him. When the boy grew up he was chosen to be chief of a tribe.—Clarence Touhy.

Prince Jan: I like this book because it shows what a dog knows. Prince Jan was a brave dog that lived in a hospice. His work was to rescue people lost in the snow in the mountains. A man bought Prince and took him to a land of no snow. Prince Jan often wondered how he could rescue people in a land without snow; but he found out how to save about ninety-two people on a ship.—Anna Margaret Street.

Robinson Crusoe: I like this book because it is so exciting and interesting. I don't see why he left his home to sail over the sea so deep and blue. I guess it was because he liked to sail so well. After a week or two it began to get dark. The wind blew and it began to thunder and lightning. The sailors began to get worried. The ship was blown out of its way and wrecked on an island where nobody lived. One day a man came on the island and Robinson named him Friday. Robinson wished a ship would come and get him and riday and one day a boat came as close as it could to the shore and brought Robinson Crusoe and Friday to the United States.—Emilybell McDorman.

Jimmie is the story of a Black Bear Cub. It is written by Ernest Harold Baynes. It describes what the bear does and the pranks he plays. I think every one would enjoy reading it. People can go to our libraries and get any book they have.—William Marshall.

Bunny Brown and His Sister Sue: When the children ran away I felt like I was right along with them. The book is very exciting. When the children started out I could usually tell that they were going to get lost or something would happen to them. It is very funny. I hope every body will want to read this book.—Irma Van Horn.

Bunny Brown and His Sister Sue at Aunt Lou's City Home: I hope others will enjoy this book, too. They were twins and always getting into mischief and you can think that I like to do that, if it doesn't do any harm. Most boys and girls of my age do.—Laura Hansell.

The Three Bears is my favorite.—Bertha Stollings.

Beauty and the Beast: This story tells how Beauty, one of three sisters was kind and tidy and unselfish and married a handsome prince and lived in a palace.—Marie Ka-fory.

Abraham Lincoln: If we children of today had to live as Lincoln did, there would not be many who would be much in life because boys and girls now want fine clothes to go to school in. I think all boys and girls should say in their minds and hearts while we have a chance, let us do as Lincoln did—that is do the best we can, learn all we can and make our lives as God wants them.—Kate Charleston.

Little Maid of Providence Town: I like this book because it is full of the thrilling adventures Betty and Tom among Indians and Spaniards.—Hazel Herdman.

Marta in Holland: I like this book best because it is geographical. Marta was a little Dutch girl who saved up her money to buy a coral necklace; but when the dike broke, she took it to buy food for the family. Her father, who was lost in the storm got back on Christmas day.—Viola Cook.

Exmoor Star: This is a fine book about a pony named Exmoor Star. The pony tells his own story from the time he was a colt in the mountains jumping and kicking up his heels till he was part of a circus with a pony chum named Fuzzy.—Jack Adams.

Nurnberg Stove: This book is interesting and exciting; there are three very good stories in it. "The Nurnberg Stove" has the gene laid in Switzerland. "The Dog of Flanders" in Belgium. The dog had been beaten and a boy took care of him and got him strong so that he would pull a cart.—Arthur Pfeifer.

Pinocchio: This is full of adventures that are funny or that prove the loyalty of Pinocchio.—Pauline Hudson.

The Princess Nina: This is the story of a little girl who had lots of trouble but it ends so that they all lived happy ever after.—Mary Herdman.

Ned Dawson in Wilfuland: Ned had a hard time with Evil Genius and Mr. Disobedience and Mr. Smooth Pretence till he learned a good lesson and was glad to work for his mother.—Willia Holmes.

Daddy's Girl: Sibyl was so sweet that her father always called her Angel. What I admire about this book is that Angel did not always think of herself. She was a rich girl who loved to do all in her power for others.—Ada Hamilton.

Anderson's airy Tales: This is the book I like best.—Evelyn Quinn.

CENTENNARIAN IN FAVOR OF FLAPPERS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—(UP)—Three dishes of ice cream a day, God's will and plenty of coffee, make for long life, according to Mrs. Katherine Ricketts, who recently celebrated here the anniversary of her 101st birthday.

Mrs. Ricketts approves of bobbed hair for women as old as herself "for comfort and not for style," and suggests that girls of the present generation be privileged to smoke cigarettes and wear short dresses if they want them.

GLEANINGS FROM CONTEST ESSAYS

Topic for 4th, 5th and 6th Grades: "The Book I Like Best."

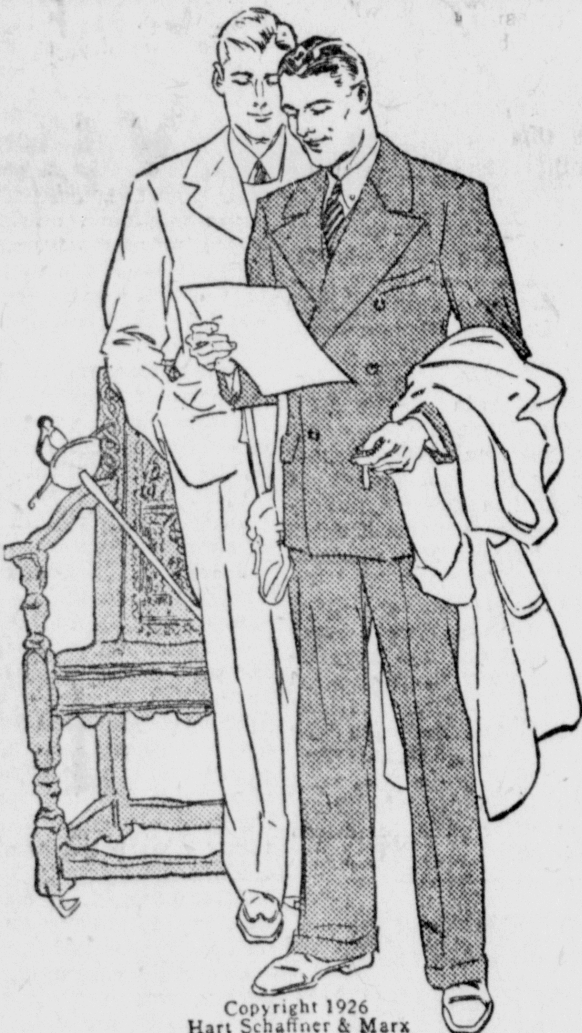

Heidi: I like "Heidi" best because it is so interesting and has so many thrilling adventures in it. Heidi's beautiful character and sunny disposition makes the story worth while reading.—Elizabeth Eavey. I am sure every body will enjoy reading "Heidi" and will like Heidi because she was so kind.—Ellen Borton.

Freckles: I have read a great many good books, but "Freckles" is the best, I think. Every boy and girl should read about this plucky waif.—Marjorie Jean Carpenter.

Shasta of the Wolves: There are a great many books that I like very much, but there is one that I can't see how anybody wouldn't just simply love. It is "Shasta of the Wolves." I have never come in contact with so much human feeling in an animal story. So if you want this wonderful gripping feeling read "Shasta of the Wolves."—Katherine Kingsbury.

After reading "Shasta of the Wolves," I should like to read any other book of Olaf Baker's. Read this book.—Bob Matthews.

Billy Mink: I could read it over a hundred times.—Ralph Bittner. I like it from beginning to end and it has pretty pictures in it.—Carl Baker. I like "Billy Mink" because the

FIFTY RELIGIOUS LEADERS CONFER AT SWITZERLAND MEET

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 23.—Fifty religious leaders representing nearly 100 Christian denominations in every section of the world, meet here today to perfect plans for a world conference to smooth out interdenominational differences.

Today's gathering, known as the "Continuation Committee," expects to draft a program of topics to be discussed at the great World Conference on Faith and Order to be held in August, 1927, at Lausanne. Recommendations and suggestions from eighty-seven nation-wide autonomous churches have been submitted to the committee whose chief duty will be to organize these views and prepare a program for the orderly procedure of the World Conference.

"The baneful consequences of present divisions among Christians are clear to all and the hopeful feature of the situation is that Christians everywhere are realizing this," said the Rt. Rev. William T. Manning, Episcopal Bishop of New York, a member of the committee, in discussing the aims of the movement.

It was made clear by spokesmen for the committee that there was no thought as yet of a formal or official union of Christian churches or that the program of closer cooperation was expected to obliterate denominational lines. The chief aim of the World Conference was said to be an endeavor to eliminate minor unnecessary differences among Christian churches and to strive for closer coordination.

Five main topics of theology already studied by a sub-committee will be considered by the committee. These are "The Nature of God," "The Church's Ministry," "The Sacraments," "The Unity of Christendom and the Place of Different Churches Within It," "The committee plans to organize these subjects into a program of discussion or recommendations representing the opinion of the representatives then assembled. This report will then be submitted to all the Trinitarian churches of the world as suggestions and without any binding force upon the communions represented at the conference.

Among sub-topics under these five main subjects is the proposal to agree upon uniform marriage laws to be recognized and enforced by all churches.

Churches which have already appointed commissions to cooperate with the World Conference movement include: The Anglican, Armenian, Baptist, Congregational, Czechoslovak, Disciples, Eastern Orthodox, Friends, German Evangelical, Lutheran, Moravian, Methodist, Old Catholic, Presbyterian, Reformed, South Indian United, United Brethren, and the United Church of Canada.

The churches represented are in the United States, Canada, the British Isles, Germany, Italy, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Greece, Serbia, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Estonia, Latvia, Roumania, Bulgaria, Cyprus, Egypt, South Africa, Syria, Palestine, China, Japan, India, Australia and New Zealand.

MOTORISTS WARNED TO OBSERVE RULES GOVERNING TRAFFIC

The educational drive conducted by the Xenia Police Department to impart knowledge of the new traffic ordinance to motorists is at an end in a sense, and police will now begin enforcement of the measure to the letter, according to Mayor John W. Prugh. Despite publicity, exhaustive efforts on the part of police to acquaint motorists with the regulations and leniency toward first-time violators, infractions of the rules continue, it is said.

Police now have instructions to make an arrest the instant a violation is noted in the belief the motoring public has been given sufficient time to become-versed to the new rules.

The principal violation noted is infringement of the rules requiring autos to come to a complete stop on certain streets designated as "stop" streets before proceeding onto main thoroughfares.

Strict adherence to the rules will be a long step taken toward reducing the number of accidents to the minimum, police say.

CHILD ATTACKED BY FEROCIOUS HOG

The two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stephens, near Blain, is in a serious condition, as the result of being attacked by a ferocious hog, on his father's farm, Sunday.

The child, while playing, entered the hog pen without the knowledge of his parents. The hog attacked the child, inflicting serious wounds to the chest and legs. The child was seriously trampled by the enraged animal before he was extricated through the timely arrival of his father. If the father had not arrived at the time, the child would probably have been killed.

The attending physician fears internal injuries to the child, caused by the trampling.

PAIR CAUGHT AFTER AUTO HITS WAGON

Doc Lee Fuson, Marion, O., and his brother Lester Fuson, also of Marion are lodged in Greene County Jail, after their arrest by Deputy Sheriff John Baughn, on the Federal Pike, Monday morning about 10 o'clock.

The father of the two men escaped before he could be arrested. The brothers were arrested after the machine in which they were riding toward Xenia, crashed a wagon load of stone, owned by Thomas Andrews, near the Andrew farm. The car struck one of the horses, injuring its leg, and then demolished the wagon. The driver of the wagon escaped injury.

Doc Lee Fuson is charged with driving a car while intoxicated and his brother with being intoxicated. The father is also said to have been under the influence of liquor.

Their automobile was wrecked and hauled to Xenia by a garage service truck. The men will have their hearing in Probate Court Tuesday morning.

POLICE SAY ARREST OF FOUR WILL CLEAR CHICKEN STEALING

Arrest of four persons and recovery of thirty-four chickens believed to have been stolen partially clears up a series of reported chicken thefts within the past three months, police are convinced.

Thirty-four chickens were found by Patrolman Charles Thompson and Motorcycle Policeman Peter Shagin assisted by Deputy Sheriff John Baughn and George Spencer in a raid on the home of Earl Milburn, 22, California St., Sunday morning.

Milburn was arrested and Francis Dudley, 20, and Raymond Chambliss, 21, also taken into custody as alleged accomplices. Walter Haley, 23, charged with complicity in the thefts, was arrested by Patrolmen Ed Craig and George Robinson Sunday night.

Milburn, alleged leader of the ring, denied the thefts, claiming he had picked up the chickens along a road. The other three men are said to have confessed.

Charges of burglary and larceny were to be placed against the quartet at their arraignment before Mayor John W. Prugh, Monday.

Identification of the chickens as stolen has not been completed.

SIX ARRESTED FOR VIOLATING DRY LAW AS POLICE ARE BUSY

A record is believed to have been established when police took into custody over the week-end twenty-one law violators the whole-sale arrests including liquor law violations, chicken stealing cases, and malicious property destruction. Eleven boys were arrested for destroying private property, four others are involved in chicken thefts while the remaining six are accused of violating the Volstead law.

Arrested after he had driven his auto into a second machine driven by Ollie Grimes, colored, on E. Main St., Walter Burdrecht, Dayton, was fined $50 and costs by Mayor John W. Prugh, Monday for driving an auto while intoxicated. He pleaded guilty. He was arrested Saturday by Patrolmen Fred Jones and George Robinson.

Charged with similar offense, W. L. Atthoston, Dayton, was fined $50 and costs by Mayor Prugh Monday when he pleaded guilty. He was arrested Saturday night by Patrolmen Charles Thompson, Ed Craig, George Robinson and George Spencer.

John Grimes, William McGinnis, Floyd Kirkpatrick and Jack Titus, also pleaded guilty to charges of drunk and disorderly conduct before the mayor Monday. Grimes, McGinnis and Kirkpatrick were each fined $25 and costs. Titus was fined $10 and costs.

The arrests were made by Patrolmen Fred Jones, George Robinson, Charles Thompson, Ed Craig and George Spencer.

MARTIN YEAKLEY CALLED BY DEATH

Martin Yeakley, 60, former resident of Xenia, died at the home of John Martin, five miles east of Troy, Sunday morning at 6 o'clock, culminating an illness of four months.

Death was pronounced directly due to pneumonia. He was confined in Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, six months ago. Shortly after leaving the hospital he was a victim of a heavy cold and contracted pneumonia. He was seriously ill a week.

His wife died six months ago from what is believed to have been shock induced by her husband's confinement in the hospital.

Mr. Yeakley moved away from Xenia fifteen years ago.

He is survived by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Anna Yeakley, Xenia, and the following nieces and nephews: Mrs. Harry Jay, Elmer Yeakley, Clarence Yeakley, Ralph Yeakley, Mrs. Edward Coy, Lawrence Wilson, all of Xenia; Robert Yeakley, Cincinnati; and Mrs. I. B. Deems, Columbus.

Funeral services will be held at the home of John Martin, Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and at 2 o'clock at the Christian Church in Troy with interment in the Troy Cemetery.

JOHN M'MANUS IS DEAD IN DAYTON

John McManus, 72, died Saturday afternoon at his home, 2209 Fauver Ave., Dayton. Funeral services will be held there Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock and a half hour later at St. Anthony's Church. Interment will be made in St. Bridget's Cemetery, Xenia.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary McManus, two sons, William, St. Louis, and James, Dayton, and two daughters, Mr. Gertrude Alcock and Mrs. Frank Rinck, Dayton.

ARRANGE FUNERAL

Funeral services for John A. Humston, 80, Civil War veteran, who died at the military home at Hampton Roads, Va., Friday, will be held Tuesday afternoon at the Friends Church at 2:30 o'clock. Daylight Saving time. Interment will be made in Woodland Cemetery.

The body is expected to arrive in Xenia from Hampton Roads Monday night and will be taken directly to the home of his widow, Mrs. Harriet Humston, S. West St. The funeral party will meet at Mrs. Humston's residence Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, fast time, before proceeding to the church.

MONTGOMERY FAIR OBSERVES DIAMOND JUBILEE THIS YEAR

Real entertainment has been provided for Fair visitors at the Montgomery Fair, Dayton, which opens Labor Day, September 6, and continues four days and four nights, celebrating its Diamond Jubilee.

In addition to three harness races each day, there will be a showing of polo ponies, saddle horses, fancy turn-outs, draft horses, cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, fine arts, culinary and domestic manufactures, school exhibits, farm machinery exhibits and the tenth annual automobile show.

Both afternoon and night there will stand fifteen high class vaudeville and circus acts, and at night in addition thereto an elaborate fireworks program will be put on, featuring the Sesqui-Centennial year showing the Spirit of 1776 down to 1926. Each day's program will be different than the day and night before. There has never been a program of this magnitude attempted by any County Fair and it will be worth anyone's time and money and going miles to see.

There will be in addition to the regular program amateur diving contests for boys and girls. There will be an old fiddlers' contest at night, and a harmonica contest among the boys.

EAST END NEWS MRS. JAMES HARRIS Correspondent TEL. 91-R

WHAT NOT TO PRINT

Deciding upon what NOT to print is among the serious responsibilities devolving upon the editorial department of a newspaper. There are papers that boast of printing "all the news," yet this merely raises an always unsettled question as to what is "news," for everyone must know that there are many happenings in every community, of which scandal mongers know the whole story, that never get into the newspapers.

In certain of the larger cities it is not unusual to find a recognizedly "scandal sheet," which is wholly intended to cater to the depraved tastes of the limited number of readers who are attracted by the sort of underworld material which it gathers in its columns and which is not even touched upon by the reputable newspapers of the city. But these sheets are not intended for reading in the home circle and make no pretense of respectability.

In the field of reputable journalism, there has been developing through many years, certain standards of selection, the application of which somewhat lessens the difficulty of deciding what is to go into the paper and what, if anything, had best be omitted. It should be understood that request for omission is never a governing factor in this matter of selection, despite the apparent impression of many people that such is the case.

It has long been the practice of reputable newspapers to carefully scrutinize the report of any happening involving young people in a way short of criminal but which might place an undeserved stigma on them in future years. This careful attitude, which has been universally adopted by all newspapers which have demonstrated a justification for continued existence, was inspired by the well-founded belief that youthful indiscretions cannot be accepted as a forecast of later instability and that at certain stage in almost every life it is virtually a toss-up between adult respectability or a career that will bring disrepute.

This attitude on the part of reputable newspapers accounts for the elimination of practically all "news" having to do with children who are brought into juvenile court, especially those first offenders of tender age whose misconduct is such as to require official action, but for whom there is every prospect of reformation and future useful citizenship. Unless the offense of the juvenile delinquent takes place in the class of major crimes, with imprisonment meted out as punishment, the use of the child's name in the newspaper is scrupulously avoided, not that parents and other relatives or friends may escape the hurt, but that the child may be freed of a usually permanent stigma, which remains in the minds of youthful companions and which might easily have the effect of driving the "marked" child into a life of crime or shame.

When one considers the ease with which reputations may be damaged, if not wrecked, by the venomous or thoughtless word, and the care which right-thinking people are inclined to take in protecting the good name of their friends, and particularly of their young acquaintances, how much more careful should those responsible for the publication of a newspaper be in bandying about the names of mere children being mildly disciplined for an indiscretion.

Disregarding any self-assumed "mission" of its publisher, a newspaper which is so lacking in editorial judgment as to fail to safe-guard its columns against the entrance of material which brings needless sorrow upon a number of families and which reflects upon young children to the extent of possibly marring their future lives, occupies no necessary place in a community and its passing may well be speeded as rapidly as possible.

THE USELESS "GOOD CITIZEN"

There is a certain type of man in every community who poses as a good citizen. He breaks no laws, lives morally, pays his honest debts and is never tangled up with the law in any manner. But he lives of himself, by himself and for himself exclusively. When the call is issued for volunteers to put across a community movement and give a boost, he never answers. When calamity has befallen people in certain localities and charity flies to their rescue, he is never one of their number. When money is needed for a public enterprise his name is never on the list. When he sees some neighbor stuck in the mud he detours to avoid him.

In fact, if he stood on the shore and saw the ship of state sinking, he would never offer to throw out a line. And if all mankind was fashioned from this same kind of chap, what would happen? There would be no churches, no hospitals for the sick, no institutions for the unfortunate, no progress. If you are about to become a useless "good citizen" read this editorial again.

SENATOR WILLIS

Senator Willis is an honest man. He was an honest school teacher, and honest congressman, an honest governor and has been an honest senator. His judgments have not always been beyond criticism, but his tendencies are correct. That is all that can be expected.

The policies of the national administration, resulting in peace, unprecedented prosperity and unprecedented tax reductions, have had, and will continue to have, the support of Senator Willis.

He should be re-elected.

NEW DISHES THIS WEEK

Sugar Cookies: Cream together three-fourths of a cup of butter and two cups of granulated sugar. In another bowl beat two eggs and add to them one-fourth cup of cold, sweet milk. Stir this liquid mixture into the sugar-butter mixture, and add one teaspoon of vanilla extract and one and one-half cups of bread flour with three teaspoons of baking powder and one-eighth teaspoon each of ground cinnamon and nutmeg. Spread one-half cup of additional bread flour over a bread board and turn the mixture out onto it. Roll thin and cut with a cookie cutter. Sprinkle each disc with granulated sugar, place on a pan (with a pancake turner) and bake twelve minutes in a moderate oven.

Corn Muffins: Mix together, then sift, one cup of bread flour, four teaspoons of baking powder and a pinch of salt. Turn this into a mixing bowl and stir into it one cup of yellow cornmeal and three tablespoons of granulated sugar. In another bowl beat the yolk of one egg light and with it mix one and one-half cups of cold, sweet milk. Combine the two mixtures, then add two tablespoons of butter melted (measured before melting), and last, fold in the stiffly-beaten white of one egg. Half fill hot, buttered muffin wells with the batter and bake twenty five minutes in a hot oven.

"Vegetable Salad (Contributed by Mrs. S. B. with the two recipes below). Sog one cup of finely-cut red (or white cabbage) in cold water for one hour, then drain and to it add one cup each of cold, diced boiled beets, boiled carrots, boiled potatoes and uncooked diced celery (in season.) Mix well together, season with salt and pepper to suit individual liking, then heap onto crisp lettuce leaves (using one head of lettuce.) Lay strips of canned pimientos on top and serve with either French or Spanish Dressing.

"French Dressing: Into a bowl put one tablespoon of either lemon juice or vinegar, and add one-half teaspoon of salt, one-eighth teaspoon of pepper and three tablespoons of salad oil, beating constantly as you mix these ingredients together. Chill before serving.

"Spanish Dressing: To one-half cup of Mayonnaise dressing, add two teaspoons of Chili Sauce, one can of pimientos finely chopped and, if desired, also a flavoring of grated cheese."

NATIVES OF WORLD'S NORTHMOST TOWN STILL CONTENTED

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, Aug. 23.—Hardy residents of these islands, only 800 miles from the North Pole, laugh when strangers speak of Spitzbergen as a "land of the north." To them, "old north" is many things.

Commander Byrd, before his flight to the Pole, planned to establish his base among these Eskimos, who number two or three hundred. He may go there in the summer of 1927. If so, he will find them as Peary left them years ago—dirty, hospitable and profoundly content.

Peary was the first man really to become acquainted with them and live to bring back the story. His ship wintered several times at Point Morris Jessup, and some of the natives accompanied him to the United States.

Mrs. Peary also took along a girl, Ekkrasuaruk, who was called "Bill" and exposed for a while to all the advantages of civilization. The Peary Eskimos pined for their igloos and frozen walrus meat, and went home. Two of them became prominent in the tribe merely by reason of the tall stories they told. They were eclipsed by one Samik, however, who became a plutocrat when Peary gave him a wooden row-boat in which to fish.

Through his wealth, Samik won the hand of "Bill," who after her study abroad was regarded as the tribe's choicest peach.

As the stories here go, Mrs. Samik proved a good wife, unspoiled by her sojourn in the southlands. The last traveler to see her said she had forgotten all her civilized ways, and was no more squeamish about what went into the stew than any of her sisters who had not had the advantage of a finishing trip abroad.

Nowadays the only knowledge the tribe has of the outside world is when a chance explorer or Scottish whaler happens to come near enough for a kajak man to row out and trade some blue fox skins, or when a very infrequent Danish trading agent comes.

They drink nothing stronger than ice water. Their sense of humor is pronounced, though few of their stories are fit for print. Discomfited travelers who have overbalanced a kajak and got thoroughly, icily wet, have found that a whole camp would rove over with laughter instead of coming to fish them out.

NUDITY OBSOLETE ON STAGE PRODUCER OF COMEDIES SAYS

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—Germany's musical comedies and girl shows are to be characterized by less nudity and more intelligence, according to the slogan proclaimed by the leading German show-master, Erik Charell, following his recent return from New York, London and Paris.

"The public everywhere has had enough nakedness," announced Charell.

"The German showman was most pleased by Sascha Guitry's revue in Paris.

"This revue," he said, "consists almost entirely of esprit. As I see it, this suggests the only future for revues. We must abandon nudity; but we must also discard the excessive pomp and blarney of our shows. There is virtually nothing more in this treasure-trove of extravagance and nudity which we can offer our audiences. They've had an eyeful. What they want now is intelligence.

"Nudity is obsolete. At first, it blinded us with its brilliancy and tickled our senses. Nowadays it leaves us cold."

Charell has announced another daring intention: During the coming season, he will forego the engagement of foreign (notably American and English) dancing girls and present a German chorus.

"Moreover," he asserted, "I have hopes that I can put a German chorus across—even if the girls wear clothes."

NEW JASPER TWP. SCHOOLS

History of the early schools of New Jasper is part of the history of the five townships from which the township was formed in 1853, namely: Cedarville, Ross, Silver-creek, Caesarocreek and Xenia.

The first school within what is now New Jasper Twp. was opened for the reception of pupils in 1826 in a cabin on the farm of the late Samuel Cooper.

It was a deserted squatter's cabin, but it sufficed for a temporary place to conduct a school until better quarters could be provided.

A man named Shields is credited with being the first teacher in the cabin. How long he taught, or how long the cabin continued in use as a school room are questions which will never be answered.

Some years later, how many is not known, a second school made its appearance in the township. This second building was on the Long farm and the first teacher tradition assigns to it was David Bell.

By the time the township was organized in 1853 it had three school buildings, and since then five others have been added. Later the township had eight one-room rural schools, with eight teachers and a total enrollment for the township of 210.

The township has no high school.

JANET

I have found no charm in gold. Like the light in Janet's eyes; Though she is but four years old. In her smile contentment lies. Fame has nothing to bestow. Fairer than those cheeks aglow.

This great world holds many things. Man is eager to possess. But the richest of them brings. No such lasting happiness. No such wealth of honest pride. As this baby at my side.

Jewels owned grow commonplace. Glory once achieved turns stale. But my Janet's lovely face. Holds a charm which cannot fall. And the music of her voice. Makes my weary heart rejoice.

Little bud that soon will flower. Now you cannot know or guess. That you hold within your power. All my dreams of happiness. By your love and by your mirth. I'm the richest man on earth.

East Side - West Side

—OF—

New York

By Jack O'Donnell

The happiest man I know in New York is a young fellow from a small town in Illinois. He's 27 years old. When he came to this town ten years ago he was trembling in his boots. He had heard it was a cruel city, a hard city, a city without a heart. He got most of his impressions from fiction written by men and women who had never been east of Pittsburgh.

When he alighted from the train at Grand Central station he confidently expected to be met by a thug with a gas pipe, a confidence man with a gold brick, a long-fingered pickpocket, and several other distasteful characters. In short he expected everything but kindness, thoughtfulness and generosity.

The unexpected happens in New York as well as in Chillicothe, O. It happened to this young man from Illinois. The letters of introduction with which he came armed proved to be something other than mere scraps of paper. They greased the ways for him. He got a job on a newspaper. He saw things from an Illinois viewpoint. His stuff was fresh. No—refreshing. It attracted the attention of one of the leading columnists of New York. The columnist—a very busy man—looked up the newcomer. Not only that, but he praised the stranger's work in his column. Encouragement.

When the youngster from the middle west wrote a play he experienced no difficulty in having it read by Broadway managers. John Golden bought it, and produced it.

When 1924 was growing old this young playwright was asked by a man of wealth who made the most money out of "Pigs," the play the Illinois boy had written. "John Golden, the producer," he answered. Then the man of wealth asked him why he didn't produce his own plays, why he didn't get in on the big money end of the theatrical game. The youngster laughed and informed his interviewer that it required capital to produce plays.

"How'd you like to take $50,000 and play with it along Broadway?" asked the man of money.

"That would be very nice," opined the young writer.

While the youngster dreamed of what he would do with $50,000 on Broadway the other pulled a check book from his pocket and wrote a check for $15,000 payable to the Hoosier.

"That'll be enough for your first play, won't it?"

The young playwright looked at the check, wondered if it were real, and said it would. It was.

With that $15,000 start, the youngster bought and produced a play which is one of the big hits of Broadway. It is destined to run at least a year in New York. The other day he sold the movie rights for $50,000. He will make close to $200,000 out of this grip show. The man who backed him, of course, will share in the profits. And I used to think New York was a tough town. The young man from the corn belt told me the other day, "Well, maybe it is—for New Yorkers!"

Vivyan Donner, is a girl in this town who refused to be "glorified" by Flo Ziegfeld. Three years ago when she was confronted with the problem of selecting a career she had two paths open to her. One was a course of study at the Art Student's League, the other the stage. Ziegfeld met her, liked her appearance and saw she had talent. He offered her a place in the Follies. Few girls get such an offer. But it didn't turn this girl's head. She proceeded cautiously. She went to a few rehearsals, talked things over with her friends, and finally decided to study art. Today that girl is drawing down big money as originator and producer of unique silhouette posters for theatrical producers and national advertisers. And Flo Ziegfeld is one of her most enthusiastic boosters.

SOUL

No matter how long we live or polished in intellect we become, there will always remain to us all a deep rooted mystery about this soul of ours.

And yet there is something very plain and simple about this very soul that clears up everything and gives us zest for toil, courage for the great emergencies of life and patience when the worries and annoyances come.

Every boy and girl should be taught early that they have a soul—that this is their one eternal possession.

One day they buried the last of earth that remained of a very great New England philosopher. A crowd of devout followers gathered to pay last respects. A comment from one of them has remained with me for years and years. As the silent one's friend walked away, he remarked:

"What a beautiful soul he had!" If he had said: "What a wonderful money maker he was, or what a remarkable speaker he was, or what a genius he was, the remark would have been lost with the low-ering of the sun of that day.

We ought to see more of the souls of people. And we ought to give more people credit for having a soul—for all have souls. Some are hidden quite deep and some seem buried beyond all recovery, but the soul is there just the same.

The other day I received a letter from a very illiterate man who said that he was in jail in Butte, Montana. The letter was written on the stationery of the Sheriff. But the letter was full of appreciation for what these simple little talks had done for him.

I carried that letter for days about with me in my pocket. I shall always prize it. That poor, unfortunate man had a soul. Somebody once rocked him in her arms—a mother—and I am quite sure that she dreamed many a dream for his happiness and usefulness in the world, for from his letter I could detect much that was good and fine.

I look into a lovely landscape before me as I write. It is by a great artist. It was painted when he was young and before his large fame came to him. I see soul in it—the soul of the man who breathed his heart into it.

Modish Mitzi FROM RAINCOAT TO FLOWERED CHIFFON IN 45 MINUTES By Jay V. Jay

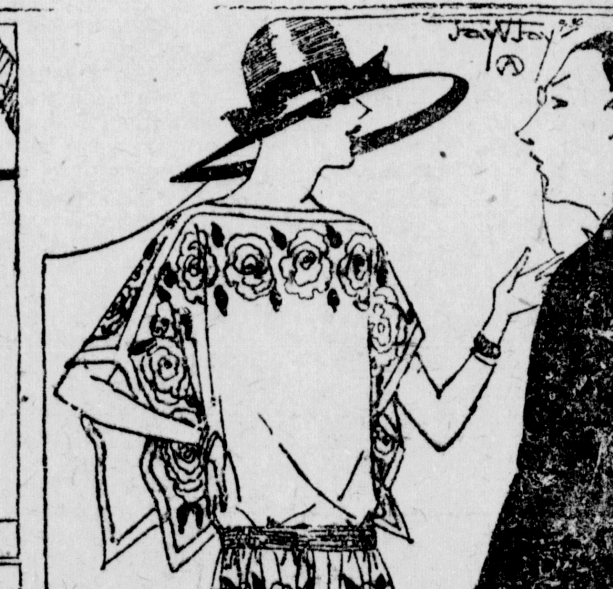

Mitzi, not used to this strange sky (for she is touring the country), thinks it is going to rain. The trouble is that it looks as though the slight cloudiness would pass and leave her no excuse to wear a rainy day ensemble which includes plaid hat, coat and umbrella. The sun is showing unmistakable signs of shining through.

While Mitzi is changing her mind—a very quick and frequent process, the clouds roll by. Well, this will give her an opportunity to wear a crepe dress that is her favorite. It has horizontal pleats and gilet effect in front. She'll carry a gay parasol-umbrella for either occasion.

But maybe it is going to be sort of warm. Will she be too warm? She hadn't thought of that but now that she has she might just as well put on a georgette dress with a colored satin collar. The hat is of felt and is banded with grosgrain ribbon. The sun has made its appearance in full and a brighter day never dawned.

This flowered chignon dress with the cape effect to the sleeves is a last moment inspiration. The large floppy hat is vastly becoming even though it conceals a little too much for the Goofer's great delight. Of course, he has been waiting about 45 minutes. But what are 45 minutes when Mitzi comes at the end of them? Tomorrow—Jewelry That is Designed for After Six o'clock.

Merchants Take Opening City Series Game Sunday

HARRIS HURLS WELL AND RESERVES LOSE OPENER ON SUNDAY

Herman Holds Colored Lads In Check Late In Fracas

Harris had a shade the better of Cyphers and Bob Herman in a mound battle and the Merchants defeated the Reserves 5 to 2 in the first of the seven-game series for the city independent baseball championship Sunday afternoon at Washington Park.

The defeat put an end to the winning streak of the Reserves which had reached eight straight games.

After pitching brilliant ball for two months, the Merchants found Cyphers comparatively easy Sunday and amassed all their runs in two innings, the third and sixth.

Cyphers stuck around until the seventh inning granting eight hits while he worked in the box. Bob Herman hurled the last three frames and escaped being scored upon.

Although each nine made ten hits, the Reserve hits availed the team little. Harris was once more in excellent form and his assortment of puzzling curves and fast ball were mixed up to perfection.

The first two Merchant tallies were earned by hard, clean hitting. Gordon's single, a triple by King, the longest hit of the game, and a sacrifice fly, brought the pair of runs across the plate in the third act. The teams had gone two scoreless innings.

Harris presented the Reserves with their first run in the last of the third. With one out Cyphers smacked out a double to left, his first hit in several weeks. Allen walked but Bayer fanned. Cyphers scored when the Merchant pitcher threw wildly to first on Frank's bunt to the box.

Merchants clinched the contest in the sixth when the Reserve defense went temporarily to pieces and with the aid of a questionable decision at third. Frank threw poorly to first on Ward's difficult bounce. Rice singled and on Anderson's roller to the box, Cyphers threw to third to force Ward. Umpire Branham ruled all runners safe. Long's single and a sacrifice hit by Cunningham scored three runs.

Reserves scored their final run in the eighth on Conley's double and a single by H. Frank. The Cyphers nine had two excellent chances to score in the seventh and ninth but lacked the punch. The team filled the bases with one out in the seventh and got two more on with one out in the last stanza but could not score.

Fast double plays killed promising Reserve rallies in the earlier innings.

Kirksey, Rice and Long featured the Merchant attack with two hits each with Allen and H. Frank duplicating for the Reserves.

Harris wrifled nine batters but was especially good with runners on base, eleven Reserve players being left stranded on the sacks.

Second game of the series will be played next Sunday afternoon at Washington Park.

Harris wrifled nine batters but was especially good with runners on base, eleven Reserve players being left stranded on the sacks.

Second game of the series will be played next Sunday afternoon at Washington Park.

Although each nine made ten hits, the Reserve hits availed the team little. Harris was once more in excellent form and his assortment of puzzling curves and fast ball were mixed up to perfection.

The first two Merchant tallies were earned by hard, clean hitting. Gordon's single, a triple by King, the longest hit of the game, and a sacrifice fly, brought the pair of runs across the plate in the third act. The teams had gone two scoreless innings.

game of the season against the Dayton Avondale Merchants next Sunday afternoon at Bowersville.

The contest will be called at 2 o'clock. Central Standard time, it is announced.

After Sunday, the team's schedule calls for road games the rest of the season.

The Springfield All Stars were to have played the Bayliffs Sunday but a majority of members of the club failed to appear and the contest was cancelled.

HARSHMANVILLE DEFEATS PIRATES

Although fielding in faultless style the Alpha Pirates were weak at bat and were defeated by the Harshmanville nine 6 to 2 Sunday afternoon.

Glass pitched a clever game and lasted the route, yielding but four hits. McMichael, after a poor start in which Harshman clinched the contest by tallying four times in the first inning, hurled equally well.

Denny Young rejoined the Harshman team and made a single. The score by innings:

Batteries—Alpha: McMichael and D. Cyphers; Harshman: Glass and H. Greene.

BUSINESS MEN BACK RESERVES IN DRIVE FOR NEW GRANDSTAND

A number of Xenia business men and supporters of the Xenia Reserve Baseball Club are behind a campaign to be launched this week to raise $1,000 with which to finance erection of a grand stand at Washington Park. It is announced.

The temporary grand stand and bleacher seats at the park are inadequate to accommodate the large crowds attending the games every week. More than 600 fans attended the series game with the Merchants Sunday.

Just what the seating capacity of the new grand stand will be has not been disclosed. It will be modern in every detail, with space provided under the structure for players' dressing rooms, a ticket booth and a soft drink establishment.

In order to raise the money it is planned by merchants to sponsor dances, benefit motion picture shows and lawn fetes until the spring of 1927.

A lawn fete will be held at Washington Park Tuesday night, August 24. Final details will be worked out at a meeting at the home of Lawrence Fuller, 124 Hill St., Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. All Xenians interested in the project are invited to come to the meeting.

The lawn fete will be in charge of Thomas Teach, Xenia grocer. An auction will be held with the highest bidder to receive a season ticket to all Reserve games in 1927.

RIQUET WITH THE TUFT

There was once upon a time a country lad who was known as Riquet with the Tuft, because he had a tuft of long red hair growing from the middle of his forehead. His nose was so long that birds often roosted on it, and indeed he was no pretty sight. Still he was blessed with very good sense.

When the ugly chap was about nine years old a family with twin daughters both of whom were girls moved in across the street. One of them looked like a wax model, the other one took first premium at the county fair for being the ugliest person there. The ugly one, however, was a smart girl.

Riquet fell in love with the ugly daughter, but she would have nothing to do with him. She wanted a lover who could kiss her and he could not because his nose was too long.

Poor old Riquet took it rather hard and one day threw himself down upon the grass to weep. He lay on his back and went to sleep. A sparrow was spinning a web in the tuft of his hair.

Now this ugly girl cut quite a swath around the farm and on this particular day she happened to be on the mowing machine. Without knowing what she was doing she mowed over the top of Riquet and cut off more than a foot of his nose, together with the tuft of hair.

With his nose back to normalcy, Riquet made a fine looking chap. So fine, in fact that the beautiful daughter wanted to marry him right away. But he didn't have the money. So they waited what seemed an eternity and the next week they were married. And, as in most cases, they lived happily for a week or so.

The street does beat;
And yet some fellows
Eat canned heat.

Rankin Grieve, local auctioneer, can talk louder, longer and faster than any man in the county," said a Hammer Club member this morning. Have heard a lot of good things about Grieve. One of them is that this is a fine classified page.

FOLLOWING THE NEWS WITH THE CAMERA

Girl Drops Into Tree

Olive Stone, famous English parachute performer, dropped into a tree during a performance near London. She was entangled for an hour before rescued.

It Matters Not About Jack's Nose

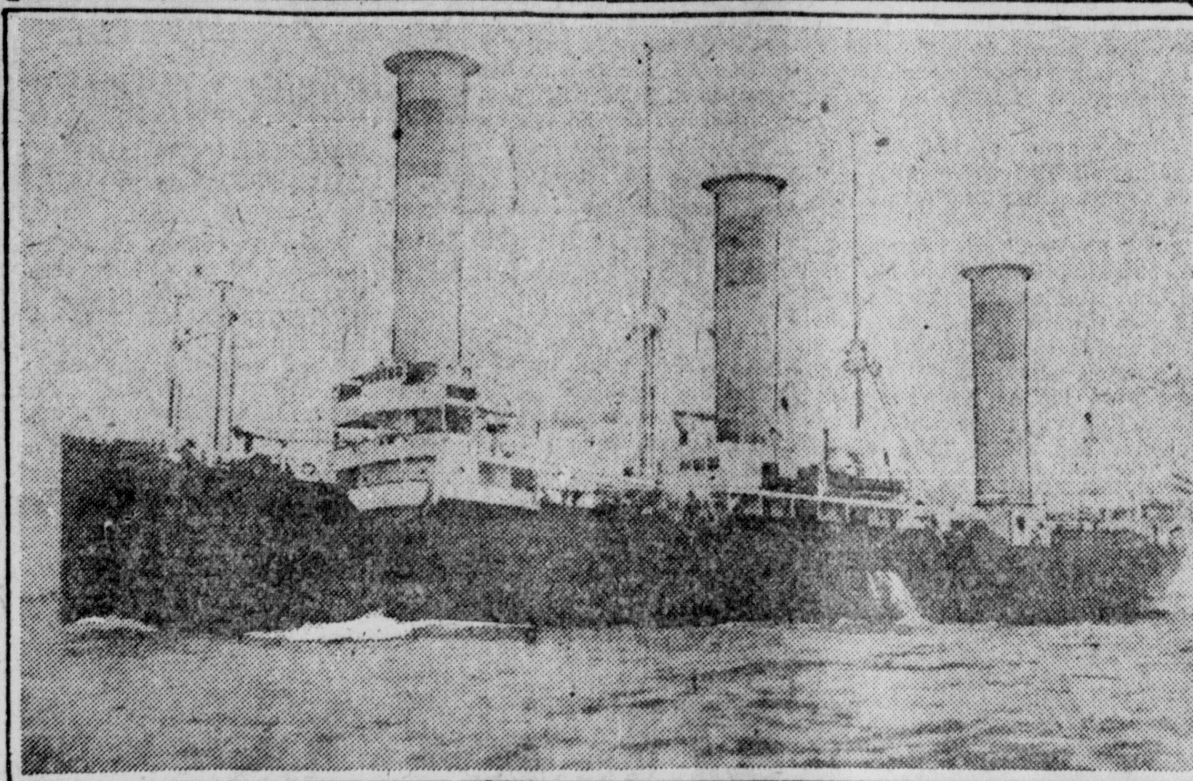

There has been a desultory discussion ever since Jack Dempsey allowed his nose to be trued up for the movies as to what effect the operation would have when he faced his next opponent. This is a trivial matter. At best the operation simply made the nose tender. And men of the iron heart have fought through battles with broken hands, arms or ribs, mutilated eyes and pulverized ears. Photos show Dempsey's nose as it was when he met Willard (right) and as it is today.

Ex-Partners Remember Rudy

Agnes O'Loughlin and Mona Mura, former dancing partners of Rudolph Valentino, brought flowers to the hospital in New York where he was seriously ill.

Latest Flettner Ship Navigates With Three Rotors

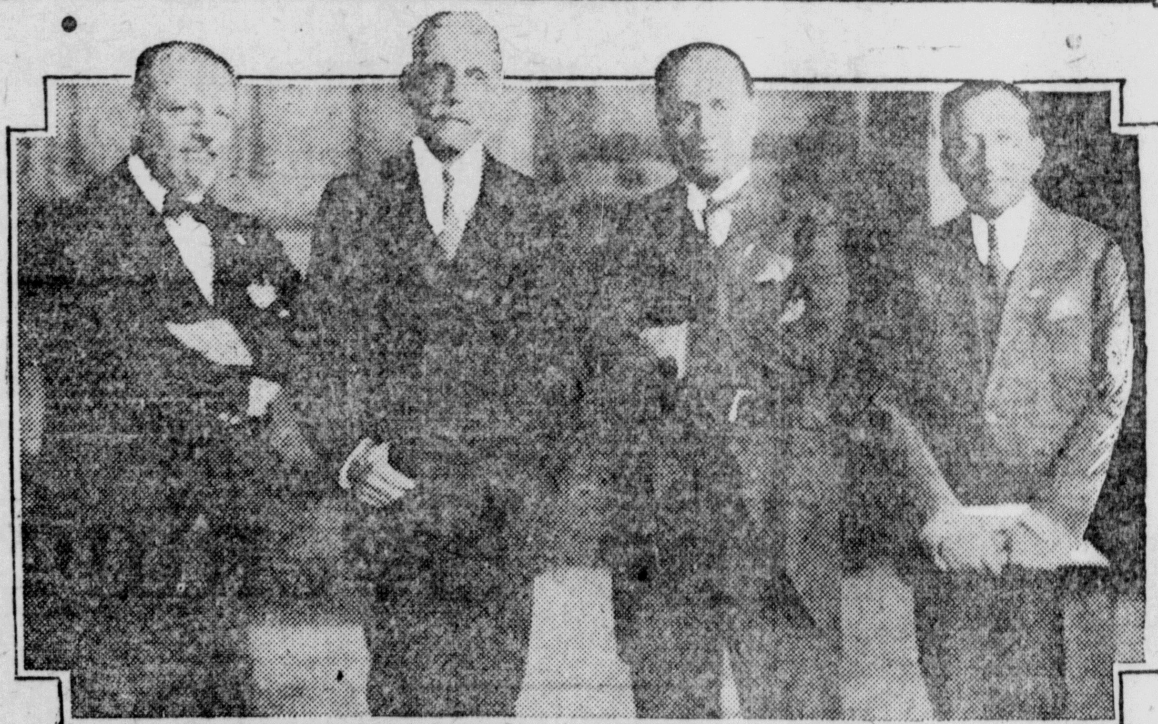

The Rotor ship grows up. The newest Flettner vessel, the "Barbara," seen here during recent trials in European waters, is the largest yet designed to use the whirling tower principle of propulsion. Its three towers give it first rate navigating speed.

The Hearts That Valentino Lived For

Mellon, in Rome, Does as Romans Do; Avoids Debt Talk

"Don't mention it," says Mr. Mellon. "I won't," says Mussolini. And he doesn't. At least, Secretary Andrew Mellon's call on the Italian leader is purely informal, with no suggestion of "business." The photo taken in Rome shows, left to right: Italian Finance Minister, Count Volpi, Secretary Mellon, Benito Mussolini and the Marquis Paulucci, secretary to the dictator.

Mexican Nuns Seek Refuge From Church Strife

As a result of Mexico's anti-church decrees and particularly in view of the restrictions placed on members of religious orders, Catholic nuns are seeking refuge in America. These "Servants of Mary" sisters have arrived in New Orleans from Mexico City. Left to right: Sisters Marie Obdella Letido, Marie Pilar Gomes, Marie de Jesus Servin, Marie de Lourdes Levinin and Marie Alina Cordero.

War Ambassador On New Service

James W. Gerard, former U. S. Ambassador to Germany, has been appointed as the public representative on the New York state industrial commission which is making an exhaustive study of industrial and labor conditions.

Britain Fights Spread of Bolshevism In Moslem Lands of Middle Orient

Under the guidance and inspiration of the British Foreign and Colonial offices, a quadrangle of armed resistance is being formed to prevent the spread of Russian-made Bolshevism in the Moslem countries of the Middle East. Above are seen the major personalities in the move; the Earl of Birkenhead, Secretary of State for India; Lord Lloyd, British High Commissioner in Egypt; Sultan Ibn Saud of the Hedjaz, Arabia, and Reza Khan, Shah of Persia.

Ruffles and Bows Give Chic Effect

A ruffled, tiered skirt and tie collar tied in a jaunty bow add not a little to the chic effect of this French frock. It is made of two shades of gray crepe de chine with amusing suggestion at the waistline.

Mellon, Mussolini Confer

Lounging Robe of Black, Gold Is Very Latest

This lounging robe is Paris very latest word on the subject of negligees. The materials are black satin-back crepe and gold brocade velvet. It is a one-piece garment—spite of appearances—the bodice buttoning on the left side under the fold of the cape.

In the News of the Day

Senator Bert M. Fernald was seriously ill at Poland, Me. Adolpho de la Huerta, former provisional president, was alleged to be involved in a Mexican revolt. Maud Fulton, former actress and now a scenario writer, was granted a divorce from Robert H. Ober, actor. Russell Thaw, son of Harry K., was injured in an auto accident at Atlantic City.

The Gilded Rose

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

ROSILYN RIDGEWAY learns on her wedding day from idle gossip that she has been married for her money. Before her enormous fortune was left her, she had been in her father's inn, little drudge in her father's inn.

LANDIS RIDGEWAY, her husband is a brilliant, fascinating man, who was forced into the marriage by his mother.

FLORENCE RIDGEWAY, an aristocratic old lady, who saw poverty staring her in the face, and chose the easiest way out.

Rosilyn loving her husband, knows that he is still in love with Lydia Harbrook, a beautiful, cold society girl who is bent on marrying.

STEVIE VAN VORST, a wealthy old roue, although she is really fond of Ridgeway. She is in Paris when the news reaches her of Landis' marriage and she hastens back to the United States. With her goes Rupert Briscoe, a dissipated man of the world, who has seen Rosilyn but once, and yet is deeply interested in her. Lydia learns of this interest, and when the two reach New York, she suggests that they ask the young Ridgeways to dinner.

She and Briscoe concoct a plot whereby through an apparent misunderstanding Rosilyn and Briscoe will be left alone together, while she will be with her beloved Landis.

Landis, finding himself alone with Lydia falls under her spell once more. Some hours later that evening, Rosilyn who is bewildered to find herself spending the evening in the company of Rupert Briscoe, sees her husband dancing with Lydia—in his eyes a look of rapture. She believes he has seen her but is too rude—or ashamed—to speak. Briscoe asks her to go on to a nightclub, and in a mood of recklessness she consents.

In Paris Van Vorst, realizing the reason for Lydia's sudden trip to America and hungering for her love, decides to use Marietta, a dancer and sweet heart of Briscoe's in connection with a plan. These two arrange to come to New York where Marietta is to vamp Landis away from Lydia, leaving a clear field for the elderly schemer.

Lydia, observing the turn of affairs, is none too pleased, especially when the dancer makes evident headway with Landis while Stevie, seizing his chance makes ardent love to Lydia. After a lavish revel in town the three accept Stevie's invitation to a party on his yacht the next day, although Lydia would prefer to have Landis to herself.

In the country at the Ridgeway place, Rosilyn, in a fever of jealousy and anxiety over the protracted disappearance of her husband seeks the solace of the countryside. While walking she believes she sees the slumbering form of Briscoe—a few minutes later the earth opens and she is plunged in a mysterious underground passage.

On Van Vorst's yacht Marietta and Lydia engage in a verbal fusillade—Lydia's last shot being a question as to whether the dancer was interested in Landis.

Receiving an indefinite reply Lydia turns her attention to Landis and coaxes him to stage a big housewarming at his place.

Rosilyn after her peculiar accident falls deep in the earth to a sort of cavern where after futile attempts to escape Briscoe appears on the scene, apparently from nowhere. She asks him when after consciousness returns how he happens to be there.

Although Briscoe offers a feasible story some doubt remains in Rosilyn's mind as to its exact truth. He denies having found her deep in the earth, which leads her to fear trickery.

CHAPTER 53

BACK AGAIN
On their way back an impulse which she tried to conquer came to Rosilyn to question Mr. Briscoe as to Landis' whereabouts in town.

"I've been wondering if you've run across Landis in the last few days?" she timidly asked.

"I did catch fleeting glimpses of him. Once at the Races with a lovely Spanish creature. Not your sort of course. She's a dancing girl. Master Landis—" here Briscoe's tones took an airily amused turn—"enjoys all types, you know. It's a good thing for him that he's married a sensible young woman like yourself, who gives him lots of latitude!"

"Have you seen them more than once? The Spanish girl and—ah—him?"

Briscoe hesitated.
"Twice anyway. But don't worry, my dear. She's safer than Lydia Harbrook. Lydia's a demon for sticking, where she takes a fancy."

Rosilyn stumbled on across the uneven ground. Tears mingled with the rain to blur her vision. But in the darkness—merciful darkness—that helped her Rupert Briscoe could not note her misery.

"Forgive me for speaking plainly," went on Briscoe, holding her arm tightly as they walked, "but the fact is you haven't had much worldly experience and a hint or two about Lydia wouldn't be amiss. She's got a cruel streak in her and if she thinks you care for your husband, she'll pursue him all the faster, even if it were only to vex you, and prove her own superior fascinations."

"Your cue is indifference. More than that, if I were you, I'd show Miss Lydia that you have plenty of other admirers ready and willing to dance attendance on you, any time."

Rosilyn's short laugh was mirthless.

"Who, for instance?"

Briscoe edged a little closer as he answered, tentatively, and without oversteering:

"Me."

"Nonsense!" Then, with an effort—"It's so hard to understand this queer, new world I'm in! I suppose I'm really just a fish out of water! I try—and try—but somehow I don't seem to fit one bit!"

"Unhappy, little girl?" The man's manner was all sympathy and gentle comprehension.

"Oh, I don't know." The outburst came. "It all seems so artificial."

"You don't mean to tell me, just the same, that you were happier when you lived in the inn on the marshes and worked from morning to night and never had a bit of pleasure?"

"I had my dreams," said Rosilyn very low.

There was silence as they tramped along, and then the man beside her spoke again.

"There are lots of wonderful things waiting for you to take them in the world you so despise."

"I don't despise it. It despises me." The comment was an honest one.

As though he had not heard, he continued:

"There are men who could care

devotedly for you, if you would only give them a chance."

In the darkness she flushed hotly.

"I am married," she said simply. "Whatever this new 'set' does, or doesn't do, the dreams of happiness and right conduct are still somewhere in my heart. I can't be untrue to them."

"You dear!" Rupert Briscoe spoke as though to a child. And then he added:

"That's all very well, but you must buckle on your armour, and fight all the dragons in your path to happiness."

"He means Lydia Harbrook!" thought the girl, and wished he would continue.

"What sort of armour?"

"Woman's best." He gave a short laugh. "In New York, there are certain weapons that are invaluable to a woman."

"Such as—?"

"Money. Light heartedness. Sparkle. A way with the men. But above all, a young girl like yourself ought to have one real friend to guide you."

Though Rosilyn:

"If only Landis were that sort! If only I could go to him!"

"In me," said Rupert Briscoe, startling her out of the reverie, "in me you have a real friend, child. One who is only waiting to do you a service."

They were nearing Royal Cliff and their pace quickened. Her companion glanced at the luminous hands of his wrist watch.

"It's just after eleven. Look!

GAS BUGGIES or HEM AND AMY—Holding The Fort

There are plenty of lights in the house! And on the lawn someone is moving, with a lantern—" So they were looking for her! Briscoe gave a long whistle, followed by a sort of halloo call. "Who is it?" came a shout from near the house, and Rosilyn started as she heard her husband's voice. "It's Landis!" In the darkness, Briscoe made a queer, awry face that was a mixture of ruefulness and amusement and a certain complacency. The ensuing situation might be really funny. And the story of her meeting with himself—Briscoe—really did seem to strain the long arm of coincidence! "It's I, Rosilyn," cried the young girl, breaking away from her escort, and running through the wet darkness towards her husband. "I had an accident and he found me." "He? And who is 'he'?" Landis' tones were ice as he swung his lantern full around on the soaked figure of his wife. "And where have you been since early morning? My mother wired me to come down at once. She was—and is still—on the verge of collapse about your disappearance!" "I couldn't help it. This is what happened..." The girl stammered out the odd recital as Rupert Briscoe joined them. "So it's you, is it, Briscoe? And what explanation have you to make?" In the lantern rays, Rosilyn saw that her husband's jaw was set like iron as he glared with hostile, angry eyes at Rupert Briscoe. Tomorrow: Landis Waxes Wrath at their second annual Ohio State conclave. The convention will continue through Wednesday. More than 400 are expected to attend. Cities and towns which will be represented are: Athens, Bowling Green, Bucyrus, Cambridge, Columbus, Findlay, Kenton, Lima, Lorain, Portsmouth, Steubenville and Toledo. Fidelity chapter of Lima is sponsor for the gathering.

HARRY TOWNSLEY IS SUMMONED BY DEATH

Harry Townsley, 46, well known farmer, died at his home five miles east of Springfield, near Harmony, Saturday night at 9:30 o'clock. Death was caused by paralysis. He had been ill eight weeks.

Mr. Townsley was born and lived all his life near Cedarville, until he moved in March, 1925, to his present farm of 500 acres near Harmony. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Dorcas Brickley Townsley, formerly of near Jamestown, and two children, Miss Mary and Alfred, at home. One sister, Mrs. Clara Morton and two brothers, Jesse and Robert, all of Cedarville, also survive.

The deceased was a member of Cedarville M. E. Church, and of Lodge No. 622, F. and A. M. and the O. E. S. Lodge.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2:30 central standard time, at the Cedarville M. E. Church, with interment in North Cemetery.

SPEEDWAY WILL BE COMPLETED SOON

AKRON, Ohio, Aug. 23—Construction on the Akron-Cleveland speedway is nearly completed, and it will be opened Labor Day, Director Frank M. Nied announced. The speedway will be dedicated with a classic list of the countries independent drivers as competitors, and, speeds of 100 miles an hour are expected to be obtained. Seating capacity is 12,000 persons. The track is wooden. Estimated cost of the structure is a half million dollars.

NOTICE CITY WATER USERS

On account of water conditions many people are compelled to use city water for washing and are inconvenienced because of its hardness.

To overcome this add one teaspoonful of Rub-No-More Washing Powder (the Original 5c Water Softener) to each gallon of city water. IT SAVES SOAP.

Besides its 15 household usages it is the only cleanser that will clean sinks and tubs and dissolve upon rinsing. No sand left to clog drain pipes. Adv.

RUDOLPH VALENTINO DIES MONDAY

CANTON GRAND JURY TO HEAR FORTY WITNESSES

PLAN TO IMPLICATE FIVE FOR MURDER OF PUBLISHER IN JULY

Special Counsel Says
Prosecutor Fears
Consequences

CANTON, O., Aug. 23.—(UP)—More than forty witnesses will appear before the grand jury convening here Wednesday to consider evidence gathered by investigators, seeking to fix blame for the murder of Don R. Mellett, it was learned today.

About half the witnesses will be provided by Ora Slater, Stark County investigator and half by Joseph Roach, special police counsel. These witnesses will implicate at least five persons in the murder, according to their sponsors.

Roach openly criticized Prosecutor C. B. McClinton as preparations were made for the grand jury session. He charged McClinton, Republican candidate for congress, fears political consequences of the probe. An assistant prosecutor is expected to be named today.

Federal authorities conducting an inquiry into liquor aspects of the case promised further arrests today. Three already have been charged with conspiracy, one a former police prosecutor.

The murder of Mellett, more than a month ago, precipitated an investigation of vice and crime conditions in Canton. He was killed while conducting a reform campaign in the Canton Daily News, of which he was publisher. The political fight will be resumed today with Mayor S. A. Sworts, hearing charges of neglect of duty against two civil service commissioners. The two commissioners have said they will not appear. If they are dismissed the way will be opened for a police department shake-up.

CHEESE BREATH OF CAT LURES MICE

MANCHESTER, Eng., Aug. 23.—(UP)—A cat story which rivals the best fish stories was recently communicated to a local paper here in a reader's letter to the editor.

"I have a house-cat," the reader wrote, "which I found possessed an extraordinary appetite for cheese, and every time cheese was placed on the table, the cat would sit beside me and beg for this very ordinary food."

"It will, no doubt interest your readers to know that upon investigation I found that the cat ate the cheese and then went to a mousehole in the woodwork and breathed heavily into it until the mice were enticed to come out."

SHAMBATTLES HELD BY NATIONAL GUARD

CAMP PERRY, O., Aug. 23.—Shambattles over a two day period were inaugurated by troops of the 74th brigade, Ohio National Guard here Monday, preceding the final review of the period to be made by Major General Robert Howze, commanding the Fifth corps area, later in the day.

PROBE MYSTERY DEATH

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 23.—Authorities today were attempting to determine the cause of the death of Miss Dorothy Kirk, formerly of Lorain. After being missed since Friday evening she was taken to a hospital Sunday morning by a man and died a few hours later.

MODERN GRANDMOTHER LONDON, Aug. 23.—(UP)—A

one-day search by a London newspaper for the old-fashioned grandmother who is usually pictured as sitting quietly darning socks by the fireside, has failed completely. The inquirer compiled a list of seven grandmothers and then set out to find out what they were doing.

No. 1 was in Paris buying frocks.

No. 2 had recently acquired a two-seater sports automobile and had driven up into the Midlands to see her son's sons.

No. 3 had gone into the country to make a political speech in her son's constituency.

No. 4 had gone to a matinee.

No. 5 was out buying some new valves for the radio set.

No. 6 was out getting her hair shingled.

No. 7 had gone to a tea dance at a big hotel.

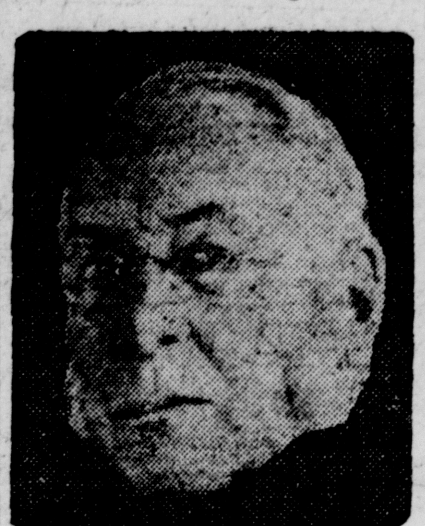

Death Claims Dr. Charles W. Eliot, Noted Educator

Former Harvard President Succumbs at Summer
Home—Was Advocate of League of
Nations—Burial Wednesday

NORTHEAST HARBOR, Me., Aug. 23.—Charles W. Eliot, 92, for fifty years a leader in American educational affairs, is dead.

For forty years he was president of Harvard University and during that time exercised world-wide influence as an educator; saw the growth of Harvard to the greatest position in education in which it ever attained; and through his writings, his lectures and his part in public affairs became one of the leading men of the day.

Dr. Eliot became a staunch supporter of the League of Nations and started Massachusetts in 1922 when he opposed the re-election of Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge because of his attacks upon the league. He was a follower of Woodrow Wilson. "Eat moderately, sleep at least seven hours a night, take regular exercise in the open every day; use no stimulants; enjoy all natural delights without excess in any way and under all circumstances remain as serene as possible, was his health creed."

He worked every day at his desk. Death came to him late yesterday at the home he had occupied here each summer for more than forty years. Since early summer his health had been such as to cause anxiety and of recent weeks he had been forced to remain almost continuously indoors.

Funeral services for Dr. Eliot will be held here tomorrow at the Union Church of Northeast Harbor. Then the body will be sent to Harvard University, where on Wednesday, additional services will be held. He will be buried at Cambridge in Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

At the time of assuming the presidency of Harvard in his 35th year Dr. Eliot was the youngest president Harvard had ever had. When he relinquished the office to A. Lawrence Lowell in 1909, he had been president for a longer time

Pangalos Is Captive As
thrown

ATHENS, Aug. 23.—Admiral Paul Coudouritis has accepted the presidency of Greece after a successful revolution in which the army and navy under the leadership of General Georges Condylis overthrew the Pangalos government.

Coudouritis had been ousted from the presidency in the revolt which raised Pangalos to power. Condylis announced that Salonika had recognized the new government.

Pangalos, who had controlled Greece, fifteen months, was taken prisoner and isolated in the military hospital at Athens. He had been spending a vacation at the island of Spatsae when Condylis, former minister of the interior, flew to the island to place him under arrest. Pangalos escaped however, fleeing on a destroyer on which he had come to the island. He was pursued by another vessel, manned by revolutionary forces, and his ship surrendered rather than face a battle.

LODGE IS ROBBED

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 23.—Burglars broke open the safe of the Fraternal Order of the Moose Lodge rooms within one block of police station here and escaped with $1,296 in cash and two checks for $100 each, it was discovered today.

than his five immediate predecessors combined.

Charles William Eliot was born in Boston, March 26, 1834, the son of Samuel Atkins and Mary Lyman Eliot. He was graduated from Harvard in 1853, ranking among the first in his class. During his undergraduate days he was prominent on the rowing teams and attained a place on the varsity crew.

PARTISAN LEADERS HOLD CONVENTION TO PLAN CAMPAIGNS

Republicans And Democrats Gather For
Columbus Meets

COLUMBUS, Aug. 23.—More than one thousand representatives of the Republican and Democratic parties were arriving here today, for their respective state conventions which open tomorrow. The visitors include nominees for state offices, county committee chairmen and party leaders.

The Democratic convention will convene at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow, expecting to conclude their business late that afternoon while the Republican convention will not get underway until 4 p. m. to be concluded probably by noon Wednesday.

The newly elected Democratic state central committee will meet this afternoon in advance of the convention to organize and select the new state executive committee. T. E. Dye, Urbana, will probably be re-elected state executive chairman and Robert T. Scott, Cambridge is slated to be retained as central committee chairman.

Although both conventions will officially launch the respective party campaigns, drafting of state party platforms practically will be the only real business before the conventions.

Thomas J. Duffy, former chairman of the state industrial commission will be the Democrats temporary chairman and will deliver the "keynote" address and Senator Simeon D. Fess is expected to perform the same duties for the Republicans.

CHICAGO BEER KING CAUGHT FOR MURDER

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—(UP)—Chicago's chief beer baron, "Polack Joe" Salsitz, indicted as a gang killer, was to be brought here today from the Northern Wisconsin woods, where he was arrested yesterday by Chicago's chief of detectives, William Shoemaker and a picked squad. Salsitz is wanted for the alleged shooting of "Millers" oley, a rival beer trafficker, a fortnight ago.

With Salsitz were three lieutenants, "Lefty" Koncil, machine gunners of the gang who faces trial with Salsitz for the Foley murder. "Three Fingers" Pete Kazinski and Nick Kramer, an under-cover man and bodyguard for Salsitz.

Although the raiding squad in the Northern Woods was supplied with machine guns, shotguns and tear bombs, none of the artillery was used in making the arrests.

BURNS CLAIM THIRD MEMBER OF FAMILY

CINCINNATI, Aug. 23.—(UP)—With the death here yesterday of Mrs. Oda Miller, Alfred D. Miller, lumber dealer is the only surviving member of his family.

On August 2, Mrs. Miller and her two children, David, 5, and Douglas, 3, were burned when escaping gas was accidentally ignited by a match. The two children died a week after the accident. Mrs. Miller had been in a hospital since.

AMERICAN GIRL IS ATTEMPTING SWIM

DOVER, Eng., Aug. 23.—Miss Clara Belle Barrett, American swimming teacher of New Rochelle, N. Y., was estimated to be eight miles off Dover, at 4 p. m. today, after two hours and thirty minutes in the water in an attempt to swim the English channel. The report came from an observer at the Dover coast guard station.

SEVEN KILLED WHEN ILLINOIS FREIGHT TRAIN IS WRECKED

Laborers Crushed To
Death When Cars
Leave Tracks

PRINCETON, Ill., Aug. 23.—(UP)—Seven men, all laborers, en route to a work camp, were killed and three more were injured, when the freight train on which they were riding jumped the track at Wyanett near here late yesterday. All had been members of an extra gang working near Galesburg, and were riding on top of an oil tank car when a brake rod broke and ten cars toppled over an embankment.

The men killed and injured were huddled in one car. The three taken to a hospital were said to be near death.

More than 1,200 feet of double track was disrupted.

Hundreds of laborers were rushed to the scene from division points at Galesburg and Aurora to repair the tracks. One tank car of molasses burst, flooding the tracks with the sticky fluid.

The station agent at Wyanett narrowly escaped being struck.

The injured were hurried to the hospital at Princeton.

BANDITS ROB SAFE BUT MISS GOLD LEAF

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Eight masked bandits, binding and gagging six night watchmen and then performing the duties they were supposed to do, early today ransacked the safes of the Wahl Pen Company and escaped with $20,000 in gold leaf and currency.

The bandits crept up to the watchmen one after another, bound them together and placed them under guard.

One robber went from station to station and made the watchmen's usual reports, while his comrades worked leisurely at opening the safes.

The robbers overlooked $50,000 worth of gold, discarded $5,000 worth of gold bar, which one of the watchmen said the robbers thought was brass, and tossed aside tridium valued at $2,000.

The watchmen told the police the robbers worked with an apparently intimate knowledge of the plant.

OCTOGENARIANS IN DIVORCE DISPUTE

SENATOBIA, Miss., Aug. 23.—Denial of charges of desertion, alleged in her husband's suit for divorce on that ground, was contained today in an answer to the suit filed yesterday by attorneys for Mrs. Elmore J. Wolf, 80.

Wolf, also an octogenarian, filed suit several weeks ago, alleging that Mrs. Wolf had deserted him in Kentucky, where he took his wife as a bride shortly after the war between the states. Wolf's petition stated they have not lived together in more than fifty years, and that he is the father of two sons whom he has not seen in that time.

FIVE RACERS HURT

AKRON, O., Aug. 23.—Five automobile race drivers were injured, two probably fatally, in a series of accidents during a one hundred mile negro drivers race at Northampton Motordrome. The automobiles crashed through the fence.

VICTIM DIES

MARTINS FERRY, Aug. 23.—Frank Davidson died last night of a bullet wound inflicted a week ago, when his stepfather, Eli Escott, ran amuck with a revolver. Escott killed his wife and later he died of a self-inflicted wound.

FUGITIVE ATTORNEY FEARS FOR LIFE SHOULD HE FACE CHARGES

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 23.—Harry W. Sheets, prominent attorney, whose disappearance August 9 was followed by allegations have left the city early in the morning after being in his office in the Goff Building, George F. Ainslee, Jr., of Columbus, Ohio, representing the National Securities Association, which had bonded Sheets for $25,000, says he ascertained that the young attorney mailed a letter at the Clarksburg postoffice the afternoon of Tuesday, August 10.

The condition of Sheets' desk indicated that he deliberately had prepared to leave, as it was found to be neatly arranged and not in the littered and disorderly condition he is said to have kept it.

COURT REFUSES ACTION ON BAIL FOR HALL - MILLS PRINCIPALS

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 23.—Chief Justice William Howard Gummere today declined to take any action on an application for the release on bail of Henry De La Bruyere Carpenter and Willie Stevens, held in Somerset County jail on charges of murder in connection with the deaths four years ago of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

The Chief Justice explained that he had received a letter from Justices Charles W. Parker, now on vacation in Maine, saying he was prepared to return and hear arguments on the bail application.

Justice Parker has jurisdiction embracing Somerset County.

Carpenter and Stevens were ordered held without bail for the action of the grand jury by County Judge Frank Cleary who presided at their preliminary examination in which special prosecutor Alexander Simpson outlined the case he has built up in solution of the four years old crime.

RUDOLPH VALENTINO SUCCEUMBS

Rudolph Valentino, American film star, known as the "movie sheik" because of the type of pictures in which he gained popularity, died Monday in a New York hospital where he underwent an operation last week. Death followed a relapse in which pleurisy set in.

TWO KILLED WHEN AUTO SKIDS ON DAYTON-GERMANTOWN PIKE

Four Other Occupants Injured When Machine
Leaves Road and Hits Pole After
Striking Auto

DAYTON, O., Aug. 23.—Clifton Hunnicut, 21 years old, Union City, Ind., and Irving Bailey, 35, taxi driver, Germantown, Ohio, were killed yesterday when the automobile in which they were occupants with four other men skidded from the roadway on the Dayton and Germantown pike, one mile east of Germantown, and turned over in a ditch after striking a telephone pole.

Both men suffered broken necks and were dead when their companions removed their bodies from the wreckage. Their machine had struck an automobile driven by Harry Frederick, of Sunbury, Ohio, and as a result a tire was blown out.

Frederick was injured. The driver of the other car, George Taylor, of Greenville, O., was injured seriously. He was taken to German-town and later to a Dayton hospital. Others injured were Robert Gunkel, John Bevins and Lester Ivor. They incurred bruises and cuts.

Hunnicut was unmarried. His father arrived from Union City to night. Bailey was married and is survived by his wife and two children.

For several years Bailey was in charge of the taxicab line between Germantown and Miamisburg. Taylor was bringing the men to Dayton from Germantown and was demonstrating his machine, a motor car of a high-powered heavy type. He was driving at a fast rate, it is reported, but owing to the fog he could not see Frederick's machine.

TO ERECT BUSINESS BUILDING IN XENIA

Work will start in a week or ten days on a two-story building, on a lot on E. Main St., recently purchased by H. L. Binder, of the Carroll-Binder Co., it was announced Monday. The lot, located opposite the Carroll-Binder Co. has been vacant some time and was purchased two weeks ago from George Grottenick.

A two-story building with stucco finish will be erected, according to present plans of Mr. Binder. He has had several offers for occupation of the building and his decision on the propositions will be made within a week.

MANUFACTURER DIES
CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 23.—F. S. Kretzniger, 28, chairman of the board of directors of the American Fork and Hoe Co., died from heart attack.

LIFE SENTENCE IS GIVEN MURDERER OF KENTUCKY COUPLE

Convict "Tiger Man" Of
Double Killing At
Morgantown

MORGANTOWN, Ky., August 23.—Delbert Gary was sentenced to life imprisonment here today after being convicted of the murder of Rev. A. W. Moss, evangelist, and Mrs. Nora Johnson, choir singer at a revival meeting in Gary School house, Butler County, three weeks ago.

Gary, whom State Attorneys called the "Tiger Man" was the leader of a band that plotted to take the evangelist's life for his activities against moonshiners.

The verdict was received here with surprise. Eight of the jurors were for the death penalty last night when the first poll was taken. When balloting was renewed this morning, four were for a life term and they won over the majority within two hours.

Gary's attorneys and newspaper men were the only ones permitted in the courtroom when the jury reported. Gary showed no change in expression when the verdict was read. It is not believed his attorneys will appeal.

Cases of the men accused with Gary have been postponed until December.

The shooting took place during a downpour of rain as the Rev. Moss and Mrs. Johnson were standing on the rostrum of the school house singing the last stanza of "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder." There was a fusillade of shots and the preacher and Mrs. Johnson both fell to the floor.

Delbert Gary, his brother, Strudie Gary, and Clifton Wilson were arrested the next day and were indicted. Delbert Gary went on trial Friday morning. Night sessions were conducted and the case was given to the jury at 10 o'clock Saturday night. The verdict was read at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, twenty days after the murders were committed.

YOUTHS ARRESTED FOR DEPREDACTIONS

Eleven youths, ranging from ten to fifteen years in age, are charged by police with breaking into an abandoned mill of the DeWine Milling Co., Bellbrook Ave., over the week end and causing property damage of $100.

Eight boys were caught in the midst of destroying property, mixing grain and feed and committing other depredations Sunday by Patrolman Fred Jones and Motorcycle Policeman Peter Shagin.

Names of three other companions of the eight involved in the act were learned upon questioning.

The eleven boys are scheduled to appear before Mayor John W. Frush Monday afternoon and their cases will probably be transferred over to Juvenile Court.

Entrance to the mill had been effected by breaking a door.

CONDOR CARRIES OFF SMALL CHILD

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 23.—(UP)—According to advices from Mendoza, the body of a two-year-old child was found in the foothills of the Andes, where it is believed to have been carried by a condor. The child disappeared from its home about two months ago.

Pomona Grange will meet at Spring Valley High School, Wednesday, August 25. No outside speakers have been engaged.

Degree work will be staged in the morning, with an interesting program for the afternoon.

MOVIE STAR UNABLE TO RESIST RELAPSE AFTER OPERATION

Blood Transfusion At
Last Minute Fails
To Save Actor

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(UP)—Rudolph Valentino, who came to this country as an emigrant gardener and rose to the heights of fame as an actor, died at the Polyclinic Hospital here today.

Humbly born, the son of a farmer in Italy, he died with four skilled physicians at his bedside and with the country waiting each word from his sick room almost as it waits for word from the sick chamber of a president.

Death came at 12:10 p. m. The specialists matching in vain their scientific knowledge against the inroads of infection which followed a operation for appendicitis and gastric ulcers, eight days ago, resorted to a blood transfusion at the end, but it was unsuccessful.

Edward Day, engineer at Polyclinic Hospital gave of his blood, to no avail.

The corps of physicians then ordered an x-ray. It was found that the pleurisy which brought about a relapse Saturday when Valentino seemed on the road to recovery had been followed by septo-endocarditis (poisoning of the wall of the heart).

The last official bulletin was issued shortly before noon when it was admitted that the actor was "rapidly failing."

His temperature had mounted to 105. His pulse was hammering at the rate of 140 strokes to the minute. His respiration was thirty to the minute.

In a few minutes, the actor was dead.

Valentino had lost consciousness shortly before the end.

The hospital meanwhile was besieged by visitors and telephone calls from thousands of those whose hours had been made happy by Valentino's screen appearances.

Once there was a premature report of his death and extra girls were assigned to telephone duty at the Polyclinic.

Father Congado administered the last rites of the Catholic Church to the dying man shortly after 10 a. m. today. Just before Valentino died Father Bennon of the Church of St. Malachi, known as the actor's church in Forty-ninth St., arrived in the sickroom.

Joseph M. Schenck announced Valentino's death. He came down stairs at 12:15 and read the brief bulletin signed by Doctors Paul C. Durham, G. Randolph Manning and Howard D. Meeker.

The relapse came Saturday. Valentino still showed a remarkable constitution and physicians took hope from his courage. However, the disease traveled slowly but certainly toward the heart and death could not be denied.

After news of his death came today, the telephone girls were immediately besieged once more.

One of the operators, Lucille Vandervilt, was in tears. She sobbed the news to her callers.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 23.—Hollywood was plunged into deep mourning today when word was flashed from New York that Rudolph Valentino, one of her favorite stars, was dead.

Flags on all studios were lowered to half mast upon a sombre hush pervaded the film colony.

Production was suspended at the United Artists Studio, under whose banner the Valentino pictures were produced.

Production was stopped at the Famous Players-Lasky Studio, also where Pola Negri, Valentino's reported fiancée, has been working double time the past week in her latest photoplay in an effort to complete the role and hasten to the actor's bedside.

Picturesque columns of stars and extras in costume and make up, were seen filing out of the studio gates. Released for the day they went to their homes to mourn the passing of "Rudy" the most famous of the screen lovers.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 23.—Pola Negri collapsed in her apartment at the Ambassador Hotel today when informed of the death of Rudolph Valentino.

Prostrated with grief the Polish star swooned without a word of comment; when informed by her personal maid that the great screen lover, her reported fiancée, had succumbed.

The house physician at the Ambassador rushed to Miss Negri's apartment and the star's personal doctor's were summoned also.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 23.—Harvey Elam, 30, was aroused by jealousy according to police, when he shot and killed Mrs. Helea Nickels and then attempted to commit suicide here. His condition is serious.

CONQUERING FAITH CURES ALL ILLS SAYS DR. W. O. THOMPSON

"Conquering faith is the cure for all ills of today," Dr. W. O. Thompson, Columbus, moderator of the General Assembly, of the Presbyterian Church, and former president of the Ohio State University, told an audience that filled Clifton Presbyterian Church, Sunday morning, to celebrate the 15th anniversary of the founding of the church.

Dr. Thompson spoke on "The Significance of Memorials," taking the text, "Hitherto that the Lord helped us." He opened with a tribute to the memorials built by man down through the ages. "Memorials have the authority of God from the time of Abraham down to the present," the speaker said.

"For 115 years this church has been a preaching place—a memorial to the loving kindness of God in the needs of His people," he spoke of Westminster Abbey, London, as a memorial place to those who had only achieved greatness and renown in the English minds, as compared with the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington Cemetery "whose memorial is a tribute to the common man who does what has to be done."

"Memorials are a testimony to our faith in the future," Dr. Thompson declared. "They are born out of our experiences in life and are all expressions of our soul. They also express our 'staying power' and our self-respect."

"Memorials of Christian faith are the greatest in the world today. Such memorials have taught us to think largely and to know the permanence of God."

Dr. Thompson presided at the communion table, assisted by the Rev. William Wilson, pastor of the church, and a former pastor, the Rev. William T. McKinney, near Cincinnati. Dr. Thompson spoke of the communion service as the greatest memorial handed down from Christ.

Nine elders served at the communion and nine ministers were in the audience. The church was filled to capacity for the service. It was estimated 500 heard the address of Dr. Thompson which featured the second day's meeting, in celebration of the church's anniversary.

GLEANINGS FROM CONTEST ESSAYS

Topic for 4th, 5th and 6th Grades: "The Book I Like Best."

Heidi: I like "Heidi" best because it is so interesting and has so many thrilling adventures in it. Heidi's beautiful character and sunny disposition makes the story worth while reading.—Elizabeth Eavey.

I am sure every body will enjoy reading "Heidi" and will like Heidi because she was so kind.—Ellen Borton.

Freckles: I have read a great many good books, but "Freckles" is the best, I think. Every boy and girl should read about this plucky wail.—Marjorie Jean Carpenter.

Shasta of the Wolves: There are a great many books that I like very much, but there is one that I can't see how anybody wouldn't just simply love. It is "Shasta of the Wolves." I have never come in contact with so much human feeling in an animal story. So if you want this wonderful gripping feeling read "Shasta of the Wolves."—Katherine Kingsbury.

After reading "Shasta of the Wolves," I should like to read any other book of Olaf Baker's. Read this book.—Bob Matthews.

Billy Mink: I could read it over a hundred times.—Ralph Bittner.

I like it from beginning to end and it has pretty pictures in it.—Carl Baker.

I like "Billy Mink" because the words are distinct and I like him because he is small.—Dorothy.

I like it because the animals are acting like people.—Howard Wilson.

I like a book about animals because they always get into mischief.—Rosemarie Bittner.

The Birds' Christmas Carol: There's so much to like about this book; it is interesting, though sad; and it is amusing, all about Carol Bird having such a happy Christmas day with the Ruggleses.—Eleanor White.

The Four Rabbits: This is a funny story about Poppy, Mopsy, Cottontail, and Peter.—Kingsley Fogg.

The North Woods of Maine: This book tells all about animals and the adventures of Frank and Harry.—Nina Stephens.

This book tells all about two boys going on a trapping trip to Maine; it is interesting because all boys like hunting and trapping.—Edward Pfeifer.

The Fairyland of Opera: I like this because I enjoy music and love to learn about the grand operas. Besides, the stories are sweet but sad. There are: "The Barber of Seville," "Romeo and Juliet," "Faust" and others. The story I especially like is "Madame Butterfly." I will tell you about it.—Marion Cox.

The Curlytops and Their Playmates: This book is very interesting and exciting because it contains many exclamations and conversations and a story that ends with a big dinner and all happy.—Virginia Brown.

The Adventures of a Brownie: The brownie stayed in a dark corner of the cellar; and one night when the cook left the food on the supper table, and everybody was asleep, the brownie ate everything up and left black footprints on the table cloth.—Virginia Kinsey.

The Life of Booker T. Washington: No book has appealed to me as much as this; from it I learn: That those are happiest who do the most for others;

That there is as much honor in tilling a farm as in writing a book; That we should stand up for right even if alone;

That we should respect our race; That we should keep hopeful and cheerful about the future, even if disadvantages and hardships do come;

That no one can be successful unless he is willing to work hard and do his level best each day of his life.

I am sure since the reading of this book I shall be a better girl in behavior and work harder in school.—Gertrude Hall.

The Gold Bug: The book I like best is "The Gold Bug," by Edgar Allan Poe. This is the story:—Martha Baughn.

Black Beauty: The reason I like this book is because it is about a horse and I like horses. I like all stories about animals.—Lucille.

This is a good book because the people in the story are kind and some of them bad. The horse is a good one, he saved a lady's life. He never kicked anybody or any one who wanted to ride.—Ray Baker.

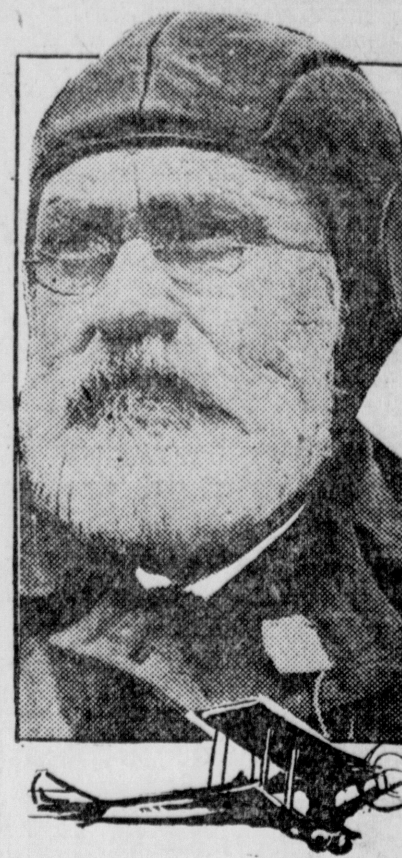

Tom Sawyer: I like this book because there is forward movement all the time. From the beginning to the end it keeps getting interesting; it has the right print for me to read. Sometimes I wish I was at the place where the story is and I wish I was the person that the story is talking about. I would be fortunate if I had the nerve of Tom Sawyer.—Donald Dallas.

Alice in Wonderland is the book I like best. One day Alice was asleep on her sister's lap and had such a wonderful dream.—Cora Palmer.

Forced to Give Up Air Mail Line

Charles Dickinson, 76-year-old pioneer of commercial aviation, is forced, largely through lack of patronage, to abandon the Chicago-St. Paul air mail line for which he contracted with the government several months ago.

Understood Betsy is my favorite book; it is by the well known author, Dorothy Canfield Fisher. Read the book yourself, since you are sure to enjoy it. To me a good book is about as good as a moving picture or a play. And books are just what libraries are for. If you are thinking of money, let that slip your mind, for the libraries are

I like the White Indian Boy best because he was kind to his mother. One day when an Indian was going to kill his mother, the boy took a rock and hit him on the head and killed him. When the boy grew up free and public buildings.—Harriet Cannon.

The Bobsey Twins and Baby May: Laura Lee Hope tells about the many exciting adventures of the twins Flossie and Freddie and the twins Bert and Nan and a baby left on the doorstep the first of May that was stolen from them and stolen back again by a woman crazed by a lot of dishes falling on her head.—Betty Bryant.

The Bobsey Twins on the House-Boat is exciting and in some places it is funny. The little girl fell off the ship and was nearly drowned.—Vinia McLean.

Boy Scouts on the Range: I like this because the author, Lieutenant Howard E. Payson explains everything thoroughly. The characters were not cowards but true, kind, and faithful. I like Rob. He got to going with Frank and Tubby and Merritt and the four went to a ranch in Arizona. There was a man who didn't like Rob and once this man's foot got stuck in a hole. A steer started to horn him when Rob shot him in the head and killed him.—Albert Carver.

Captives Three: I like this book best because it tells of the pioneers and also of an Indian uprising and of how Clay Castle made a canoe out of a poplar he felled and saved his sister Nell.—David Hamlin.

Golden Deeds: This book is made up of stories of kind and noble deeds boys and girls have done for thousands of people. If more children would read this book they would be anxious to help others.—Gladys Graves.

The White Indian Boy: One day when a boy was out in the field watching the sheep he ran away with an Indian who promised him a pony and did not leave his mother and father any note.—Mabel Harness.

I like the White Indian Boy best because he was kind to his mother. One day when an Indian was going to kill his mother, the boy took a rock and hit him on the head and killed him. When the boy grew up he was chosen to be chief of a tribe.—Clarence Touhy.

Prince Jan: I like this book because it shows what a dog knows. Prince Jan was a brave dog that lived in a hospice. His work was to rescue people lost in the snow in the mountains. A man bought Prince and took him to a land of no snow. Prince Jan often wondered how he could rescue people in a land without snow; but he found out how to save about ninety-two people on a ship.—Anna Margaret Street.

Robinson Crusoe: I like this book because it is so exciting and interesting. I don't see why he left his home to sail over the sea so deep and blue. I guess it was because he liked to sail so well. After a week or two it began to get dark. The wind blew and it began to thunder and lightning. The sailors began to get worried. The ship was blown out of its way and wrecked on an island where nobody lived. One day a man came on the island and Robinson named him Friday. Robinson wished a ship would come and get him and riday and one day a boat came as close as it could to the shore and brought Robinson Crusoe and Friday to the United States.—Emilybell McDorman.

Jimmie is the story of a Black Bear Cub. It is written by Ernest Harold Baynes. It describes what the bear does and the pranks he plays. I think every one would enjoy reading it. People can go to our libraries and get any book they have.—William Marshall.

Bunny Brown and His Sister Sue: When the children ran away I felt like I was right along with them. The book is very exciting. When the children started out I could usually tell that they were going to get lost or something would happen to them. It is very funny. I hope every body will want to read this book.—Irma Van Horn.

Bunny Brown and His Sister Sue at Aunt Lou's City Home: I hope others will enjoy this book, too. They were twins and always getting into mischief and you can think that I like to do that, if it doesn't do any harm. Most boys and girls of my age do.—Laura Hansell.

The Three Bears is my favorite.—Bertha Stollings.

Beauty and the Beast: This story tells how Beauty, one of three sisters was kind and tidy and unselfish and married a handsome prince and lived in a palace.—Marie Kafory.

Abraham Lincoln: If we children of today had to live as Lincoln did, there would not be many who would be much in life because boys and girls now want fine clothes to go to school in. I think all boys and girls should say in their minds and hearts while we have a chance, let us do as Lincoln did—that is do the best we can, learn all we can and make our lives as God wants them.—Kate Charleston.

Little Maid of Providence Town: I like this book because it is full of the thrilling adventures Betty and Tom among Indians and Spaniards.—Hazel Herdman.

Marta in Holland: I like this book best because it is geographical. Marta was a little Dutch girl who saved up her money to buy a coral necklace, but when the duke broke, she took it to buy food for the family. Her father, who was lost in the storm got back on Christmas day.—Viola Cook.

Exmoor Star: This is a fine book about a pony named Exmoor Star. The pony tells his own story from the time he was a colt in the mountains jumping and kicking up his heels till he was part of a circus with a pony chum named Fuzzy.—Jack Adams.

Nurnberg Stove: This book is interesting and exciting; there are three very good stories in it. "The Nurnberg Stove" has the one laid in Switzerland. "The Dog of Flanders" in Belgium. The dog had been beaten and a boy took care of him and got him strong so that he would pull a cart.—Arthur Pfeifer.

Pinocchio: This is full of adventures that are funny or that prove the loyalty of Pinocchio.—Pauline Hudson.

The Princess Nina: This is the story of a little girl who had lots of trouble but it ends so happy that all lived happy ever after.—Mary Herdman.

Ned Dawson in Wilfuland: Ned had a hard time with Evil Genius and Mr. Disobedience and Mr. Smooth Pretence till he learned a good lesson and was glad to work for his mother.—Willie Holmes.

Daddy's Girl: Sibyl was so sweet that her father always called her Angel. What I admire about this book is that Angel did not always think of herself. She was a rich girl who loved to do all in her power for others.—Ada Hamilton.

Anderson's airy Tales: This is the book I like best.—Evelyn Quinn.

CENTENNARIAN IN FAVOR OF FLAPPERS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—(UP).—Three dishes of ice cream a day, God's will and plenty of coffee make for long life, according to Mrs. Katherine Ricketts, who recently celebrated here the anniversary of her 101st birthday.

Mrs. Ricketts approves of bobbed hair for women as old as herself "for comfort and not for style," and suggests that girls of the present generation be privileged to smoke cigarettes and wear short dresses if they want them.

FIFTY RELIGIOUS LEADERS CONFER AT SWITZERLAND MEET

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 23—Fifty religious leaders representing nearly 100 Christian denominations in every section of the world, meet here today to perfect plans for a world conference to smooth out interdenominational differences.

Today's gathering, known as the "Continuation Committee," expects to draft a program of topics to be discussed at the great World Conference on Faith and Order to be held in August, 1927, at Lausanne. Recommendations and suggestions from eighty-seven nation-wide autonomous churches have been submitted to the committee whose chief duty will be to organize these views and prepare a program for the orderly procedure of the World Conference.

"The baneful consequences of present divisions among Christians are clear to all and the hopeful feature of the situation is that Christians everywhere are realizing this," said the Rt. Rev. William T. Manning, Episcopal Bishop of New York, a member of the committee, in discussing the aims of the movement.

It was made clear by spokesmen for the committee that there was no thought as yet of a formal or official union of Christian churches or that the program of closer cooperation was expected to obliterate denominational lines. The chief aim of the World Conference was said to be an endeavor to eliminate minor unnecessary differences among Christian churches and to strive for closer coordination.

Five main topics of theology already studied by a sub-committee will be considered by the committee. These are "The Nature of God," "The Church's Ministry," "The Sacraments," "The Unity of Christendom and the Place of Different Churches Within It," "The committee plans to organize these subjects into a program of discussion or recommendations representing the opinion of the representatives then assembled. This report will then be submitted to all the Trinitarian churches of the world as suggestions and without any binding force upon the communions represented at the conference.

Among sub-topics under these five main subjects is the proposal to agree upon uniform marriage laws to be recognized and enforced by all churches.

Churches which have already appointed commissions to cooperate with the World Conference movement include: The Anglican, Armenian, Baptist, Congregational, Czechoslovak, Disciples, Eastern Orthodox, Friends, German Evangelical, Lutheran, Moravian, Methodist, Old Catholic, Presbyterian, Reformed, South Indian United, United Brethren, and the United Church of Canada.

The churches represented are in the United States, Canada, the British Isles, Germany, Italy, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Greece, Serbia, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Estonia, Latvia, Rumania, Bulgaria, Cyprus, Egypt, South Africa, Syria, Palestine, China, Japan, India, Australia and New Zealand.

MOTORISTS WARNED TO OBSERVE RULES GOVERNING TRAFFIC

The educational drive conducted by the Xenia Police Department to impart knowledge of the new traffic ordinance to motorists is at an end in a sense, and police will now begin enforcement of the measure to the letter, according to Mayor John W. Prugh. Despite publicity, exhaustive efforts on the part of police to acquaint motorists with the regulations and leniency toward first-time violators, infractions of the rules continue, it is said.

Police now have instructions to make an arrest the instant a violation is noted in the belief the motoring public has been given sufficient time to become-used to the new rules.

The principal violation noted is infringement of the rules requiring autos to come to a complete stop on certain streets designated as "stop" streets before proceeding onto main thoroughfares.

Strict adherence to the rules will be a long step toward reducing the number of accidents to the minimum, police say.

CHILD ATTACKED BY FEROCIOUS HOG

The two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stephens, near Blainetown, is in a serious condition, as the result of being attacked by a ferocious hog, on his father's farm, Sunday.

The child, while playing, entered the hog pen without the knowledge of his parents. The hog attacked the child, inflicting serious wounds to the chest and legs. The child was seriously trampled by the enraged animal before he was extricated through the time-lag arrival of his father. If the father had not arrived at the time, the child would probably have been killed.

The attending physician fears internal injuries to the child, caused by the trampling.

PAIR CAUGHT AFTER AUTO HITS WAGON

Doc Lee Fuson, Marion, O., and his brother Lester Fuson, also of Marion, are lodged in Greene County Jail, after their arrest by Deputy Sheriff John Baughn, on the Federal Pike, Monday morning about 10 o'clock.

The father of the two men escaped before he could be arrested. The brothers were arrested after the machine in which they were riding toward Xenia, crashed a wagon load of stone, owned by Thomas Andrews, near the Andrew farm. The car struck one of the horses, injuring its leg, and then demolished the wagon. The driver of the wagon escaped injury. Doc Lee Fuson is charged with driving a car while intoxicated and his brother with being intoxicated. His father is also said to have been under the influence of liquor.

Their automobile was wrecked and hauled to Xenia by a garage service truck. The men will have their hearing in Probate Court Tuesday morning.

POLICE SAY ARREST OF FOUR WILL CLEAR CHICKEN STEALING

Arrest of four persons and recovery of thirty-four chickens believed to have been stolen partially clears up a series of reported chicken thefts within the past three months, police are convinced. Thirty-four chickens were found by Patrolman Charles Thompson and Motorcycle Policeman Peter Shagin assisted by Deputy Sheriff John Baughn and George Spencer in a raid on the home of Earl Milburn, 22, California St., Sunday morning.

Milburn was arrested and Francis Dudley, 20, and Raymond Chambliss, 21, also taken into custody as alleged accomplices. Walter Hales, 38, charged with complicity in the thefts, was arrested by Patrolmen Ed Craig and George Robinson Sunday night.

Milburn, alleged leader of the ring, denied the thefts, claiming he had picked up the chickens along a road. The other three men are said to have confessed.

Charges of burglary and larceny were to be placed against the quartet at their arraignment before Mayor John W. Prugh, Monday. Identification of the chickens as stolen has not been completed.

SIX ARRESTED FOR VIOLATING DRY LAW AS POLICE ARE BUSY

A record is believed to have been established when police took into custody over the week-end twenty-one law violators the whole-sale arrests including liquor law violations, chicken stealing cases, and malicious property destruction. Eleven boys were arrested for destroying private property, four others are involved in chicken thefts while the remaining six are accused of violating the Volstead law.

Arrested after he had driven his auto into a second machine driven by Ollie Grimes, colored, on E. Main St., Walter Burdough, Dayton, was fined $50 and costs by Mayor John W. Prugh, Monday for driving an auto while intoxicated. He pleaded guilty. He was arrested Saturday by Patrolmen Charles Thompson, Ed Craig, George Robinson and George Spencer.

John Grimes, William McGinnis, Floyd Kirkpatrick and Jack Titus, also pleaded guilty to charges of drunk and disorderly conduct before the mayor Monday. Grimes, McGinnis and Kirkpatrick each fined $25 and costs. Titus was fined $10 and costs.

The arrests were made by Patrolmen Fred Jones, George Robinson, Charles Thompson, Ed Craig and George Spencer.

MARTIN YEAKLEY CALLED BY DEATH

Martin Yeakley, 60, former resident of Xenia, died at the home of John Martin, five miles east of Troy, Sunday morning at 6 o'clock, culminating an illness of four months.

Death was pronounced directly due to pneumonia. He was confined in Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, six months ago. Shortly after leaving the hospital he was a victim of a heavy cold and contracted pneumonia. He was seriously ill a week.

His wife died six months ago from what is believed to have been shock induced by her husband's confinement in the hospital.

Mr. Yeakley moved away from Xenia fifteen years ago.

He is survived by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Anna Yeakley, Xenia, and the following nieces and nephews: Mrs. Harry Jay, Elmer Yeakley, Clarence Yeakley, Ralph Yeakley, Mrs. Edward Coy, Lawrence Filson, all of Xenia; Robert Yeakley, Cincinnati; and Mrs. I. B. Deems, Columbus.

Funeral services will be held at the home of John Martin, Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and at 2 o'clock at the Christian Church in Troy with interment in the Troy Cemetery.

JOHN M'MANUS IS DEAD IN DAYTON

John McManus, 72, died Saturday afternoon at his home, 2209 Flauver Ave., Dayton. Funeral services will be held there Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock and a half hour later at St. Anthony's Church. Interment will be made in St. Bridg's Cemetery, Xenia.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary McManus; two sons, William, St. Louis, and James, Dayton, and two daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Alcock and Mrs. Frank Rinck, Dayton.

ARRANGE FUNERAL

Funeral services for John A. Lamston, 50, Civil War veteran, who died at the military home at Hampton Roads, Va., Friday, will be held Tuesday afternoon at the Friends Church at 2:30 o'clock, Daylight Saving time. Interment will be made in Woodland Cemetery.

The body is expected to arrive in Xenia from Hampton Roads Monday night and will be taken directly to the home of his widow, Mrs. Harriet Humston, S. West St. The funeral party will meet at Mrs. Humston's residence Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, fast time, before proceeding to the church.

CANDIDATES SPENT $2,088.01 HERE FOR PRIMARY ELECTION

Total sum of $2,088.01 was spent by sixty-nine successful and defeated candidates for county and state public and party offices in Greene County at the Republican and Democratic primary August 16 according to their campaign expense statements filed with Earl Short, clerk of the board of elections.

Saturday was the deadline for filing the statements of disbursements and contributions.

Ohmer Tate, successful candidate for sheriff, listed the greatest amount of disbursements of all candidates who filed. He spent $430.48, of which one item was for an airplane and bomb advertising.

Other candidates for public office to file were: County Auditor R. O. Wead, re-elected, $289.30; John Baughn, defeated candidate for sheriff, $220.15; G. H. MONTGOMERY FAIR OBSERVES DIAMOND JUBILEE THIS YEAR

Real entertainment has been provided for Fair visitors at the Montgomery Fair, Dayton, which opens Labor Day, September 6, and continues four days and four nights, celebrating its Diamond Jubilee.

In addition to three harness races each day, there will be a showing of polo ponies, saddle horses, fancy turn-outs, draft horses, cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, fine arts, culinary and domestic manufactures, school exhibits, farm machinery exhibits and the tenth annual automobile show.

Both afternoon and night there will be shown in front of the grand stand fifteen high class vaudeville and circus acts, and at night in addition thereto an elaborate fireworks program will be put on, featuring the Sequel Centennial year showing the Spirit of 1776 down to 1926. Each day's program will be different than the day and night before. There has never been a program of this magnitude attempted by any County Fair and it will be worth anyone's time and money and going miles to see.

There will be in addition to the regular program amateur diving contests for boys and girls. There will be an old fiddlers' contest at night, and a harmonica contest among the boys.

WHAT NOT TO PRINT

Deciding upon what NOT to print is among the serious responsibilities devolving upon the editorial department of a newspaper. There are papers that boast of printing "all the news," yet this merely raises an always unsettled question as to what is "news," for everyone must know that there are many happenings in every community, of which scandal mongers know the whole story, that never get into the newspapers.

In certain of the larger cities it is not unusual to find a recognizedly "scandal sheet," which is wholly intended to cater to the depraved tastes of the limited number of readers who are attracted by the sort of underworld material which it gathers in its columns and which is not even touched upon by the reputable newspapers of the city. But these sheets are not intended for reading in the home circle and make no pretense of respectability.

In the field of reputable journalism, there has been developing through many years, certain standards of selection, the application of which somewhat lessens the difficulty of deciding what is to go into the paper and what, if anything, had best be omitted. It should be understood that request for omission is never a governing factor in this matter of selection, despite the apparent impression of many people that such is the case.

It has long been the practice of reputable newspapers to carefully scrutinize the report of any happening involving young people in a way short of criminal but which might place an undesired stigma on them in future years. This careful attitude, which has been universally adopted by all newspapers which have demonstrated a justification for continued existence, was inspired by the well-founded belief that youthful indiscretions cannot be accepted as a forecast of later instability and that at a certain stage in almost every life it is virtually a toss-up between adult respectability or a career that will bring disrepute.

This attitude on the part of reputable newspapers accounts for the elimination of practically all "news" having to do with children who are brought into juvenile court, especially those first offenders of tender age whose misconduct is such as to require official action, but for whom there is every prospect of reformation and future useful citizenship. Unless the offense of the juvenile delinquent takes place in the class of major crimes, with imprisonment meted out as punishment, the use of the child's name in the newspaper is scrupulously avoided, not that parents and other relatives or friends may escape the hurt, but that the child may be freed of a usually permanent stigma, which remains in the minds of youthful companions and which might easily have the effect of driving the "marked" child into a life of crime or shame.

When one considers the ease with which reputations may be damaged, if not wrecked, by the venomous or thoughtless word, and the care which right-thinking people are inclined to take in protecting the good name of their friends, and particularly of their young acquaintances, how much more careful should those responsible for the publication of a newspaper be in bandying about the names of mere children being mildly disciplined for an indiscretion.

Disregarding any self-assumed "mission" of its publisher, a newspaper which is so lacking in editorial judgment as to fail to safeguard its columns against the entrance of material which brings needless sorrow upon a number of families and which reflects upon young children to the extent of possibly marring their future lives, occupies no necessary place in a community and its passing may well be speeded as rapidly as possible.

THE USELESS "GOOD CITIZEN"

There is a certain type of man in every community who poses as a good citizen. He breaks no laws, lives morally, pays his honest debts and is never tangled up with the law in any manner. But he lives of himself, by himself and for himself exclusively. When the call is issued for volunteers to put across a community movement and give a boost, he never answers. When calamity has befallen people in certain localities and charity flies to their rescue, he is never one of their number. When money is needed for a public enterprise his name is never on the list. When he sees some neighbor stuck in the mud he detours to avoid him.

In fact, if he stood on the shore and saw the ship of state sinking, he would never offer to throw out a line. And if all mankind was fashioned from this same kind of chap, what would happen? There would be no churches, no hospitals for the sick, no institutions for the unfortunate, no progress. If you are about to become a useless "good citizen" read this editorial again.

SENATOR WILLIS

Senator Willis is an honest man. He was an honest school teacher, and honest congressman, an honest governor and has been an honest senator. His judgments have not always been beyond criticism, but his tendencies are correct. That is all that can be expected.

The policies of the national administration, resulting in peace, unprecedented prosperity and unprecedented tax reductions, have had, and will continue to have, the support of Senator Willis.

He should be re-elected.

NEW JASPER TWP. SCHOOLS

History of the early schools of New Jasper is part of the history of the five townships from which the township was formed in 1853, namely: Cedarville, Ross, Silvercreek, Caesarcreek and Xenia.

The first school within what is now New Jasper Twp. was opened for the reception of pupils in 1816 in a cabin on the farm of the late Samuel Cooper.

It was a deserted squatter's cabin, but it sufficed for a temporary place to conduct a school until better quarters could be provided.

A man named Shields is credited with being the first teacher in the cabin. How long he taught, or how long the cabin continued in use as a school room are questions which will never be answered.

Some years later, how many is not known, a second school made its appearance in the township. This second building was on the Long farm and the first teacher tradition assigns to it was David Bell.

By the time the township was organized in 1853 it had three school buildings, and since then five others have been added. Later the township had eight one-room rural schools, with eight teachers and a total enrollment for the township of 210.

The township has no high school.

JANET

I have found no charm in gold. Like the light in Janet's eyes; Though she is but four years old. In her smile contentment lies. Fame has nothing to bestow. Fairer than those cheeks aglow.

This great world holds many things. Man is eager to possess. But the richest of them brings. No such lasting happiness. No such wealth of honest pride. As this baby at my side.

Jewels owned grow commonplace. Glory once achieved turns stale. But my Janet's lovely face. Holds a charm which cannot fail.

And the music of her voice. Makes my weary heart rejoice. Little bud that soon will flower. Now you cannot know or guess. That you hold within your power. All my dreams of happiness.

By your love and by your mirth. I'm the richest man on earth.

NUDITY OBSOLETE ON STAGE PRODUCER OF COMEDIES SAYS

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—Germany's musical comedies and girl shows are to be characterized by less nudity and more intelligence, according to the slogan proclaimed by the leading German show-master, Erik Charrel, following his recent return from New York, London and Paris.

"The public everywhere has had enough nakedness," announced Charrel.

The German showman was most pleased by Sascha Gultzy's revue in Paris.

"This revue," he said, "consists almost entirely of esprit. As I see it, this suggests the only future for revues. We must abandon nudity; but we must also discard the excessive pomp and blarney of our shows. There is vir-lity nothing more in this treasure-trove of extravagance and nudity which we can offer our audiences. They've had an eyeful. What they want now is intelligence.

East Side - West Side

—OF—

New York

By Jack O'Donnell

The happiest man I know in New York is a young fellow from a small town in Illinois. He's 27 years old. When he came to this town ten years ago he was trembling in his boots. He had heard it was a cruel city, a hard city, a city without a heart. He got most of his impressions from fiction written by men and women who had never been east of Pittsburgh.

When he alighted from the train at Grand Central station he confidently expected to be met by a thug with a gas pipe, a confidence man with a gold brick, a long fingered pickpocket and several other distasteful characters. In short he expected everything but kindness, thoughtfulness and generosity.

The unexpected happens in New York as well as in Chillicothe, O. It happened to this young man from Illinois. The letters of introduction with which he came armed proved to be something other than mere scraps of paper. They greased the ways for him.

He got a job on a newspaper. He saw things from an Illinois viewpoint. His stuff was fresh. No refreshing. It attracted the attention of one of the leading columnists of New York. The columnist—a very busy man—looked up the newcomer. Not only that but he praised the stranger's work in his column. Encouragement.

When the youngster from the middle west wrote a play he experienced no difficulty in having it read by Broadway managers. John Golden bought it and produced it. When 1924 was growing old this young playwright was asked by a man of wealth who made the most money out of "Plays," to play the Illinois boy had written. "John Golden, the producer," he answered. Then the man of wealth asked him why he didn't produce his own plays, why he didn't get in on the big money end of the theatrical game. The youngster laughed and informed his interviewer that it required capital to produce plays.

"How'd you like to take $50,000 and play with it along Broadway," asked the man of money.

"That would be very nice," replied the young writer.

While the youngster dreamed of what he would do with $50,000 on Broadway the other pulled a check book from his pocket and wrote a check for $15,000 payable to the Hoosier.

"That'll be enough for your first play, won't it?"

The young playwright looked at the check and wondered if it were real, and said it would. It was.

With that $15,000 start the youngster bought and produced a play which is one of the big hits of Broadway. It is destined to run at least a year in New York.

The other day he sold the movie rights for $50,000. He will make close to $200,000 out of this one show. The man who backed him, of course, will share in the profits.

"And I used to think New York was a tough town," the young man from the corn belt told me the other day. "Well, maybe it is—for New Yorkers!"

Vivyan Donner, is a girl in this town who refused to be "glorified" by Flo Ziegfeld. Three years ago when she was confronted with the problem of selecting a career she had two paths open to her. One was a course of study at the Art Student's League, the other the stage. Ziegfeld met her, liked her appearance and saw she had talent. He offered her a place in the Follies. Few girls get such an offer. But it didn't turn this girl's head. She proceeded cautiously. She went to a few rehearsals, talked things over with her friends and finally decided to study art. Today that girl is drawing down big money as originator and producer of unique silhouette posters for theatrical producers and national advertisers.

And Flo Ziegfeld is one of her most enthusiastic boosters.

Today's Talk

SOUL

No matter how long we live or polished in intellect we become, there will always remain to us all a deep rooted mystery about this soul of ours.

And yet there is something very plain and simple about this very soul that clears up everything and gives us zest for toil, courage for the great emergencies of life and patience when the worries and annoyances come.

Every boy and girl should be taught early that they have a soul—that this is their one eternal possession.

One day they buried the last of earth that remained of a very great New England philosopher. A crowd of devout followers gathered to pay last respects. A comment from one of them has remained with me for years and years. As the silent one's friend walked away, he remarked: "What a beautiful soul he had!"

If he had said: What a wonderful money maker he was, or what a remarkable speaker he was, or what a genius he was, the remark would have been lost with the low, ringing of the sun of that day.

We ought to see more of the souls of people. And we ought to give more people credit for having a soul—for all have souls. Some are hidden quite deep and some seem buried beyond all recovery, but the soul is there just the same.

The other day I received a letter from a very illiterate man who said that he was in jail in Butte, Montana. The letter was written on the stationery of the Sheriff. But the letter was full of appreciation for what these simple little Talks had done for him.

I carried that letter for days about with me in my pocket. I shall always prize it. That poor, unfortunate man had a soul. Somebody once rocked him in her arms—a mother—and I am quite sure that she dreamed many a dream for his happiness and usefulness in the world, for from his letter I could detect much that was good and fine.

I look into a lovely landscape before me as I write. It is by a great artist. It was painted when he was young and before his large fame came to him. I see soul in it—the soul of the man who breathed his heart into it.

Modish Mitz from RAINCOAT TO FLOWERED CHIFFON IN 45 MINUTES By Jay V. Jay

Mitzi, not used to this strange sky (for she is touring the country), thinks it is going to rain. The trouble is that it looks as though the slight cloudiness would pass and leave her no excuse to wear a rainy day ensemble which includes plaid hat, coat and umbrella. The sun is showing unmistakable signs of shining through.

But maybe it is going to be sort of warm. Will she be too warm? She hadn't thought of that but now that she has she might just as well put on a georgette dress with a colored satin collar. The hat is of felt and is banded with grosgrain ribbon. The sun has made its appearance in full and a brighter day never dawned.

While Mitzi is changing her mind—a very quick and frequent process, the clouds roll by. Well, this will give her an opportunity to wear a crepe dress that is her favorite. It has horizontal pleats and gilet effect in front. She'll carry a gay parasol-umbrella for either occasion.

This flowered chiffon dress with the cape effect to the sleeves is a last moment inspiration. The large floppy hat is vastly becoming even though it conceals a little too much for the Goofy's great delight. Of course, he has been waiting about 45 minutes. But what are 45 minutes when Mitzi comes at the end of them? Tomorrow—Jewelry That is Designed for After Six o'clock.

The league for the defense of religious liberty at Mexico City, has issued a bulletin revealing that the attendance at certain of the moving picture houses in that city, has been reduced from 50 to 75 percent because of the economic boycott in protest against the new religious regulations.

The people are urged to continue their abstention from theaters and other avoidable expenditures. The amusement taxes in Mexico City have been reduced 40,000 pesos, it is declared, since the boycott began.

Merchants Take Opening City Series Game Sunday

HARRIS HURLS WELL AND RESERVES LOSE OPENER ON SUNDAY

Herman Holds Colored Lads In Check Late In Fracas

Harris had a shade the better of Cyphers and Bob Herman in a mound battle and the Merchants defeated the Reserves 5 to 2 in the first of the seven-game series for the city independent baseball championship Sunday afternoon at Washington Park.

The defeat put an end to the winning streak of the Reserves which had reached eight straight games.

After pitching brilliant ball for two months, the Merchants found Cyphers comparatively easy Sunday and amassed all their runs in two innings, the third and sixth.

Cyphers stuck around until the seventh inning granting eight hits while he worked in the box. Bob Herman hurled the last three frames and escaped being scored upon.

Although each nine made ten hits, the Reserve hits availed the team little. Harris was once more in excellent form and his assortment of puzzling curves and fast ball were mixed up to perfection.

The first two Merchant tallies were earned by hard, clean hitting. Gordon's single, a triple by King, the longest hit of the game, and a sacrifice fly, brought the pair of runs across the plate in the third at the teams had gone two scoreless innings.

Harris presented the Reserves with their first run in the last of the third. With one out Cyphers smacked out a double to left, his first hit in several weeks. Allen walked but Bayer fanned. Cyphers scored when the Merchant pitcher threw wildly to first on Frank's bunt to the box.

Merchants clinched the contest in the sixth when the Reserve defense went temporarily to pieces and with the aid of a questionable decision at third. Frank threw poorly to first on Ward's difficult bounce. Rice singled and on Anderson's relay to the box, Cyphers threw to third to force Ward. Umpire Branham ruled all runners safe. Long's single and a sacrifice hit by Cunningham scored three runs.

Reserves scored their final run in the eighth on Conley's double and a single by H. Frank. The Cyphers nine had two excellent chances to score in the seventh and ninth but lacked the punch.

The team filled the bases with one out in the seventh and got two more on with one out in the last stanza but could not score.

Fast double plays killed promising Reserve rallies in the earlier innings.

Kirksey, Rice and Long featured the Merchant attack with two hits each with Allen and H. Frank duplicating for the Reserves.

Harris wriffed nine batters but was especially good with runners on base, eleven Reserve players being left stranded on the sacks.

Second game of the series will be played next Sunday afternoon at Washington Park.

FRISCH QUITS TEAM TO PROTEST RIDING FROM GIANTS' BOSS

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Talk among the major league baseball players about some kind of protective organization or union probably will be revived this winter because of the recent experience of Max Carey and Frank Frisch.

Grey, rated as one of the most valuable players in the game last season, lost his job with the Pittsburgh Pirates and was released away from a cut of the World's series money with a transfer to the Brooklyn Club.

Frisch, in open rebellion against the managerial tactics of John McGraw, was back at his home today debating what move he could make next. He left the Giants in St. Louis without warning and probably will lose a lot of money and his job.

The former captain of the Giants said today that he wasn't certain what he could do and that he was going to stay around home for awhile. He said he was in bad physical shape and needed a rest.

In the opinion of ball players and fans who are familiar with contracts which players have to sign there is nothing that Frisch can do. He made the first move and he will have to make the next and its tough moving anyway against McGraw. Frisch refused to give any reasons for jumping the club in St. Louis, but it was learned from other sources that McGraw has been riding him so hard he couldn't stand it any longer and took a way out that he figured might force McGraw to trade or sell him to some other club.

It has been no secret that the Giant Manager had been riding the players all season and especially so since it became almost obvious that the team cannot win the pennant this year.

McGraw was reported to have said that he gave Frisch permission to negotiate with the Brooklyn Club last spring or with any other club that would be willing to assume a contract that is said to call for $18,000 a year. Frisch denied that he had talked with the Brooklyn owners.

Earlier in the season McGraw was said to have offered Frisch to the Cincinnati Reds for Pete Donohue and Huxley Critz, but the deal failed when the Cincinnati Club suggested a flat trade of Critz for Frisch.

Unless some wealthy Club such as the Chicago Cubs would be willing to assume his contract, Frisch feared a trade will mean a big reduction of salary for Frisch. His contract expired this fall and he will have to accept terms or retire from the game.

QUOT TOURNEY TO START WEDNESDAY

First round of the second annual tournament of the Xenia Quoit Club to determine the champion pitcher in the city for 1926, will be played off at the club grounds Wednesday night, according to plans announced Monday. Any member of the club is eligible to compete in the tourney. Plans for the tourney will be arranged and a schedule mapped out Wednesday night.

Entries must be handed in by Wednesday night to Secretary Waldorf Sachs as entries will close at that time.

Each player entering the competition will be required to pitch every other entrant once, the championship and final standing to be determined on a basis of points, not games won.

There will be no entrance fee and handsome prizes will be awarded those holding a high standing at the end of the event.

Certain nights each week will be designated as tournament nights until the championship is determined.

game of the season against the Dayton Avondale Merchants next Sunday afternoon at Bowersville. The contest will be called at 2 o'clock, Central Standard time, it is announced.

After Sunday, the team's schedule calls for road games the rest of the season.

The Springfield All Stars were to have played the Bayliffs Sunday but a majority of members of the club failed to appear and the contest was cancelled.

HARSHMANVILLE DEFEATS PIRATES

Although fielding in faultless style the Alpha Pirates were weak at bat and were defeated by the Harshmanville nine 6 to 2 Sunday afternoon.

Glass pitched a clever game and laced the route, yielding but four hits. McMichael, after a poor start in which Harshmanville clinched the contest by tallying four times in the first inning, hurled equally well.

Denny Young rejoined the Harshman team and made a single. The score by innings: Alpha 0 0 0 1 0 0 1-2; Harshman 4 0 0 0 0 0 0-6.

Batteries—Alpha: McMichael and D. Cyphers; Harshman: Glass and H. Greene.

BUSINESS MEN BACK RESERVES IN DRIVE FOR NEW GRANDSTAND

A number of Xenia business men and supporters of the Xenia Reserve Baseball Club are behind a campaign to be launched this week to raise $1,000 with which to finance erection of a grand stand at Washington Park. It is announced.

The temporary grand stand and bleacher seats at the park are inadequate to accommodate the large crowds attending the games every week. More than 600 fans attended the series game with the Merchants Sunday.

Just what the seating capacity of the new grand stand will be has not been disclosed. It will be modern in every detail, with space provided under the structure for players' dressing rooms, a ticket booth and a soft drink establishment. In order to raise the money it is planned by merchants to sponsor dances, benefit motion picture shows and lawn fetes until the spring of 1927.

A lawn fete will be held at Washington Park Tuesday night, August 24. Final details will be worked out at a meeting at the home of Lawrence Fuller, 124 Hill St., Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. All Xenians interested in the project are invited to come to the meeting.

The lawn fete will be in charge of Thomas Teach, Xenia grocer. An auction will be held with the highest bidder to receive a season ticket to all Reserve games in 1927.

DENTISTS CONVEGE IN INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION TODAY

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—A closer relationship between the sciences of dentistry and medicine is expected to result from the deliberations of the Seventh International Dental Congress, which assembles here today.

Dentistry's development as a factor in preventative medicine and its ever increasing importance in disease diagnosis has done much to bring about this relationship, in the opinion of the 15,000 delegates from twenty-one nations who are here for the sessions.

The present meeting is the first world assembly since 1914, when the Sixth Congress gathered in London, and its deliberations were summarily suspended at the outbreak of the World War. The last international congress in this country was held in St. Louis in 1904 coincidentally with the Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

Dental science was expected to be accorded recognition as a companion in the warfare against disease by famous medical scientists who are guests and speakers at the Congress. Oral hygiene, in the land of dentists, has been hailed by them as the greatest ally of medicine and surgery.

A large exposition relating to the science, craft and history of dentistry has been planned by the Congress, exhibits for which have been assembled from all over the world. It comprises five divisions, a dental scientific exhibit, a dental historical exhibit, a dental public health exhibit, a government exhibit and a commercial exhibit.

The historical and scientific exhibits are illustrative of the progress of dentistry from even prehistoric times, including ancient Egyptian and Etruscan periods, when dental practitioners were first known.

Military dental surgery was to occupy an important part in the exposition. The U. S. Army Dental Corps has a complete display of maxillofacial surgery, the result of war experience of the army dental surgeons.

The German government has been allotted 2,000 square feet for its exhibit, expected to include examples of military dental surgery as developed in that nation and exhibits of commercial and public health dental activities.

An extensive clinical program has been arranged for the week during which the latest strides in dental surgery will be demonstrated. They will be shown by eminent clinicians appointed by the various state advisory committees and the deans of dental schools.

President Coolidge was personally represented at the opening sessions of the Congress. The following men were named by the President officially to represent the United States and the Congress:

U. S. Senator Hendrick Shipstead, Minnesota; Congressman Roy O. Clark, Michigan; Lieut. Commander W. L. Darnell, U. S. N.; all of whom are dentists, and the following dentists of national repute: Col. William H. G. Logan, president of the International Dental Congress; Dr. Otto U. King, secretary general of the Congress; Dr. Truman W. Brophy; Dr. Henry L. Banzhaf; Dr. W. A. Giffin; Dr. H. D. Friessell and Dr. Sheppard W. Foster, the latter president of the American Dental Association.

The Gilded Rose

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

ROSILYN RIDGEWAY learns on her wedding day from idle gossip that she has been married for her money. Before her enormous fortune was left her, she had been an over-worked little drudge in her father's inn.

LANDIS RIDGEWAY, her husband is a brilliant, fascinating man, who was forced into the marriage by his mother. FLORENCE RIDGEWAY, an aristocratic old lady, who saw poverty staring her in the face, and chose the easiest way out. Rosilyn, loving her husband, knows that he is still in love with Lydia Harbrook, a beautiful, cold society girl who is bent on marrying.

STEVIE VAN VORST, a wealthy old roue, although she is really fond of Ridgeway. She is in Paris when the news reaches her of Landis' marriage and she hastens back to the United States. With her goes Rupert Briscoe, a dissipated man of the world, who has seen Rosilyn but once, and yet is deeply interested in her. Lydia learns of this interest, and when the two reach New York, she suggests that they ask the young Ridgeways to dinner. She and Briscoe concoct a plot whereby through an apparent misunderstanding Rosilyn and Briscoe will be left alone together, while she will be with her beloved Landis.

Landis, finding himself alone with Lydia falls under her spell once more. Some hours later that evening, Rosilyn who is bewildered to find herself spending the evening in the company of Rupert Briscoe, sees her husband dancing with Lydia—in his eyes a look of rapture. She believes he has seen her but is too rude—or ashamed—to speak. Briscoe asks her to go on to a nightclub, and in a mood of recklessness she consents.

In Paris Van Vorst, realizing the reason for Lydia's sudden trip to America and hungering for her love, decides to use Marietta, a dancer and sweet heart of Briscoe's in connection with a plan. These two arrange to come to New York where Marietta is to vamp Landis away from Lydia, leaving a clear field for the elderly schemer.

Lydia, observing the turn of affairs, is none too pleased, especially when the dancer makes evident headway with Landis while Stevie, seizing his chance makes ardent love to Lydia. After a lavish revel in town the three accept Stevie's invitation to a party on his yacht the next day, although Lydia would prefer to have Landis to herself.

In the country at the Ridgeway place, Rosilyn, in a fever of jealousy and anxiety over the protracted disappearance of her husband seeks the solace of the countryside. While walking she believes she sees the slumbering form of Briscoe—a few minutes later the earth opens and she is plunged in a mysterious underground passage.

On Van Vorst's yacht Marietta and Lydia engage in a verbal fusillade—Lydia's last shot being a question as to whether the dancer was interested in Landis.

Receiving an indefinite reply Lydia turns her attention to Landis and coaxes him to stage a big housewarming at his place.

Rosilyn after her peculiar accident falls deep in the earth to a sort of cavern where after futile attempts to escape Briscoe appears on the scene, apparently from nowhere. She asks him when after consciousness returns how he happens to be there.

Although Briscoe offers a feasible story some doubt remains in Rosilyn's mind as to its exact truth. He denies having found her deep in the earth, which leads her to fear trickery.

CHAPTER 53

BACK AGAIN

On their way back an impulse which she tried to conquer came to Rosilyn to question Mr. Briscoe as to Landis' whereabouts in town. "I've been wondering if you've run across Landis in the last few days?" she timidly asked.

"I did catch fleeting glimpses of him. Once at the Races with a lovely Spanish creature. Not your sort of course. She's a dancing girl. Master Landis," here Briscoe's tones took an airily amused turn—"enjoys all types, you know. It's a good thing for him that he's married a sensible young woman like yourself, who gives him lots of latitude!"

"Have you seen them more than once? The Spanish girl and—and he?"

Briscoe hesitated. "Twice anyway. But don't worry, my dear. She's safer than Lydia Harbrook. Lydia's a demon for sticking, where she takes a fancy."

Rosilyn stumbled on across the uneven ground. Tears mingled with the rain to blur her vision. But in the darkness—merciful darkness—that helped her—Rupert Briscoe could not note her misery.

"Forgive me for speaking plainly," went on Briscoe, holding her arm tightly as they walked, "but the fact is you haven't had much worldly experience and a hint or two about Lydia wouldn't be amiss. She's got a cruel streak in her and if she thinks you care for your husband, she'll pursue him all the faster, even if it were only to vex you, and prove her own superior fascinations."

"Your cue is indifference. More than that, if I were you, I'd show Miss Lydia that you have plenty of other admirers ready and willing to dance attendance on you, any time."

Rosilyn's short laugh was mirthless.

"Who, for instance?" Briscoe edged a little closer as he answered, tentatively, and without oversteering:

"Me."

"Nonsense!" Then, with an effort—"It's so hard to understand this queer, new world I'm in! I suppose I'm really just a fish out of water! I try—and try—but somehow I don't seem to fit one bit!"

"Unhappy, little girl?" The man's manner was all sympathy and gentle comprehension.

"Oh, I don't know." The outburst came. "It all seems so artificial."

"You don't mean to tell me, just the same, that you were happier when you lived in the inn on the marshes and worked from morning to night and never had a bit of pleasure?"

"I had my dreams," said Rosilyn very low.

There was silence as they tramped along, and then the man beside her spoke again.

"There are lots of wonderful things waiting for you to take them in the world you so despise."

"I don't despise it. It despises me." The comment was an honest one.

As though he had not heard, he continued:

"There are men who could care

devotedly for you, if you would only give them a chance."

In the darkness she flushed hotly.

"I am married," she said simply. "Whatever this new 'set' does, or doesn't do, the dreams of happiness and right conduct are still somewhere in my heart. I can't be untrue to them."

"You dear!" Rupert Briscoe spoke as though to a child. And then he added:

"That's all very well, but you must buckle on your armour, and fight all the dragons in your path to happiness."

("He means Lydia Harbrook!" thought the girl, and wished he would continue.)

"What sort of armour?"

"Woman's oest." He gave a short laugh. "In New York, there are certain weapons that are invaluable to a woman."

"Such as—?"

"Gaily. Light heartedness. Sparkle. A way with the men. But above all, a young girl like yourself ought to have one real friend to guide you."

"Though Rosilyn:

"If only Landis were that sort!"

"If only I could go to him!"

"In me," said Rupert Briscoe, startling her out of the reverie, "in me you have a real friend, child. One who is only waiting to do you a service."

They were nearing Royal Cliff and their pace quickened. Her companion glanced at the luminous hands of his wrist watch.

"It's just after eleven. Look!
